For the first time in Major League history, over 360 major league players went on a seven week strike, starting June 12 and ending July 31. Players wanted a free agent system which would allow baseball players to play out their contracts, then switch to another team. This disagreement came between the club owners and players of the 1981 season.

Each club received $100,000 insurance money for every unplayed game. The agreement after the strike was professional compensation for certain players.

The TV audience of over two million viewers was left hanging for two episodes while Luke and Laura completed their ceremony.

The beginning of the 1981-1982 Supreme Court session brought many surprises, one being the nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor, the first woman to hold office in the Supreme Court.

Before taking the place of the retiring Potter Stewart, Sandra was the appeals judge for the Arizona Court.

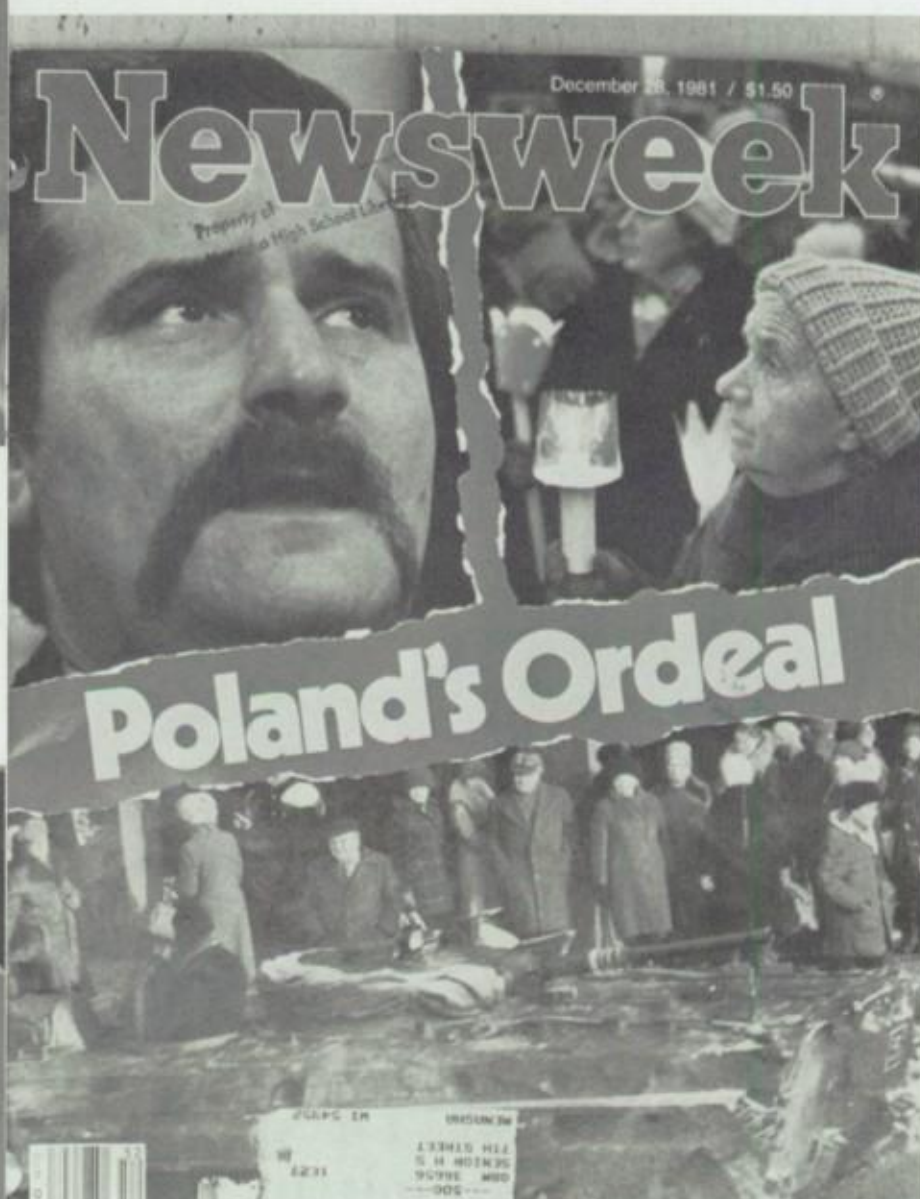

July 29, 1981, marked the day of one of the most remembered weddings in history. This was the wedding of the heir to the throne, Prince Charles of Wales, and a former kindergarten teacher, known to all as Lady Diana. She was a distant relative, but close friend of the family. Close to 700 million people all over the world watched their TV sets in awe at 11:20 a.m. when Prince Charles and Lady Diana were pronounced man and wife.

A month after the wedding, the happy couple announced the pregnancy of Lady Diana. The baby is expected in June.

Much to the surprise of the workers, the Communist Party suddenly cracked down on the unions.

During this political riot, eight people were killed and 5,000 people were arrested.

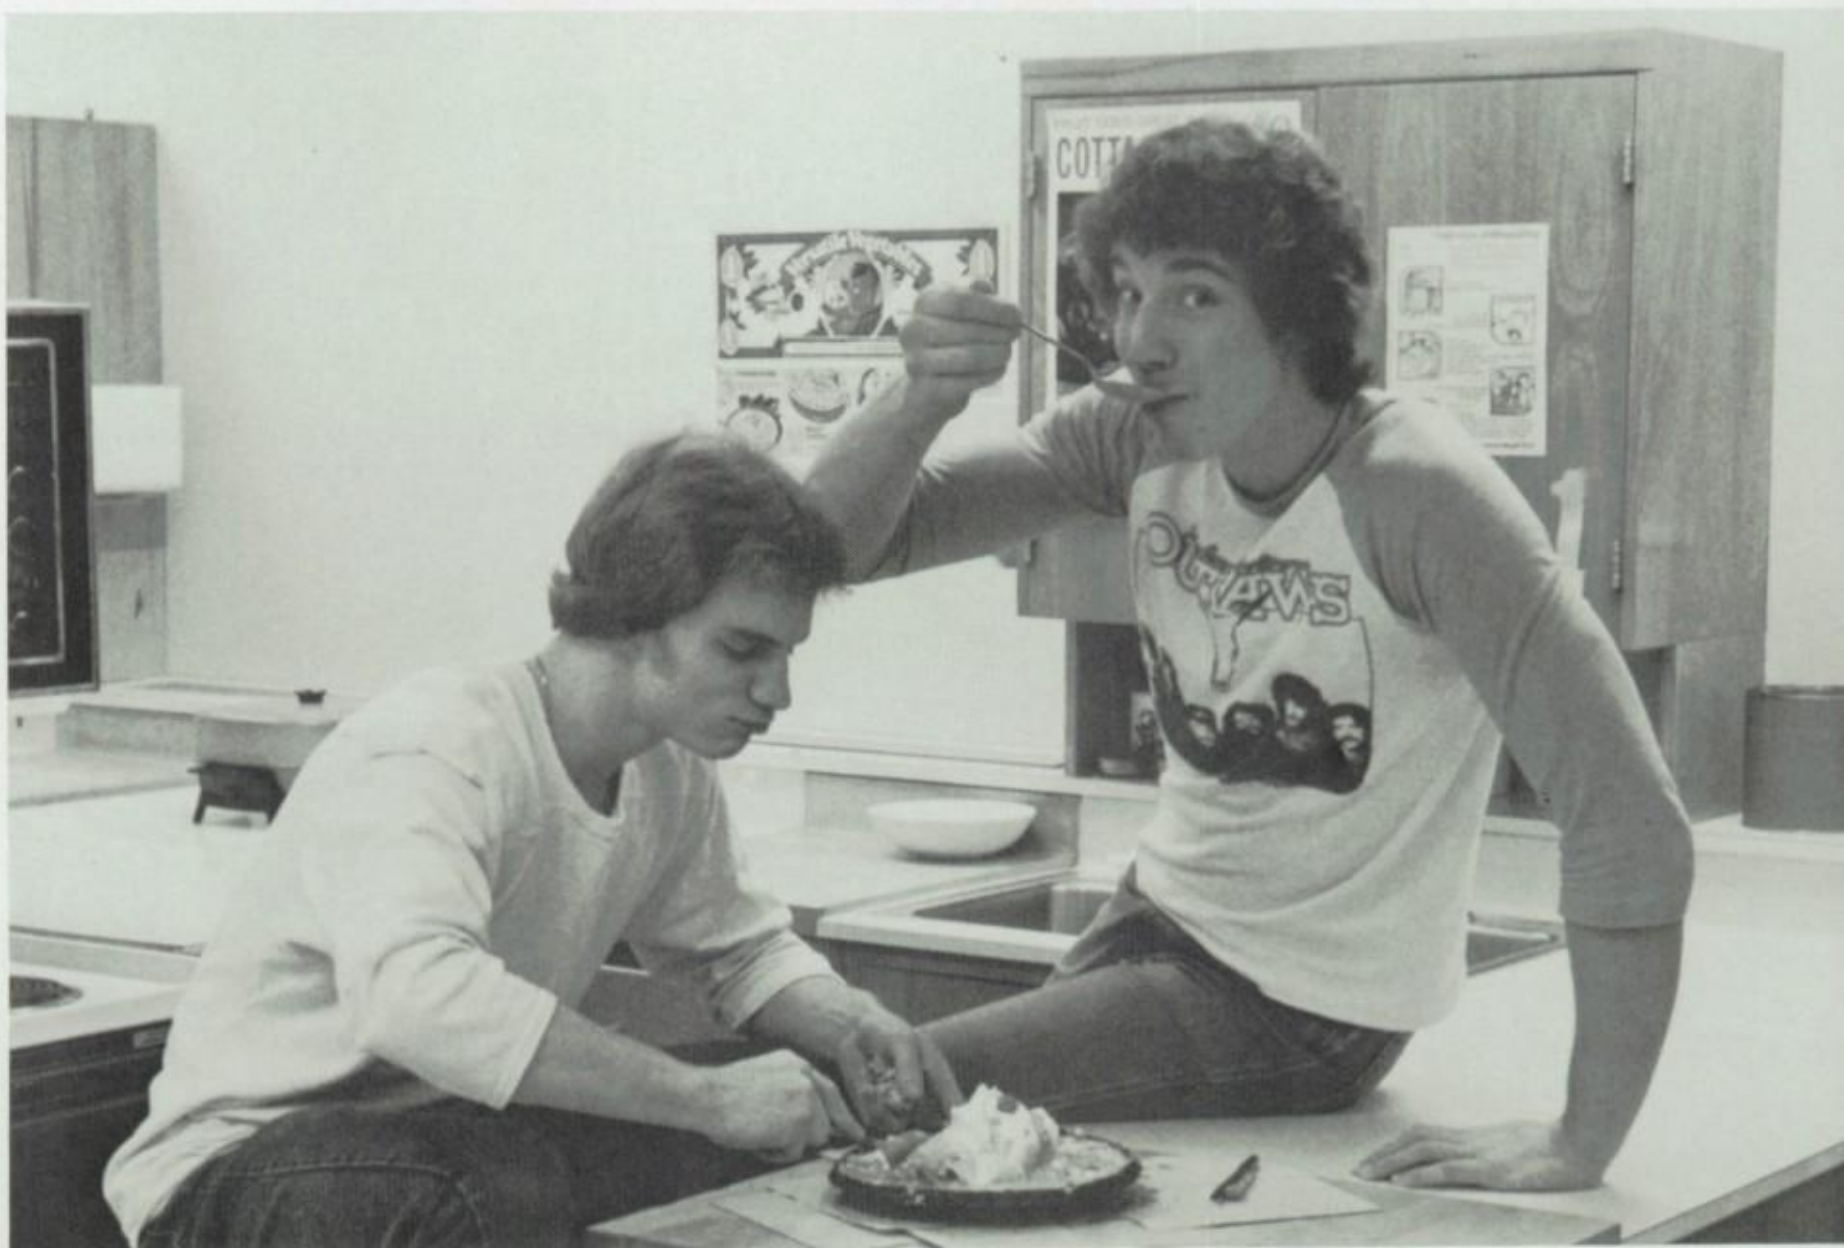

On Golden Pond was one of the most acclaimed movies of 1982. The movie won ten awards, including ones for best actor, best actress, and best supporting actress. It was also nominated for best film of the year.

On Golden Pond starred Henry Fonda, Katherine Hepburn, and co-starred Jane Fonda. The movie was about a man afraid of dying, and a teenage boy who made him realize he shouldn't be afraid of it.

The movie had been held over for more than 20 weeks at the local theater.

Cindy Schaefer surpasses the invisible wall held by Mary Smith to sing of her undying love to Steve Mehl.

Use your imagination and try to picture Jim Prast cutting hedges!

Jon Waldburger concentrates on the sound system to make it perfect.

Steve Dahle narrates the play in his own special way, through song and speech.

It Was A "Fantastick" Performance

The play starts out early in the fall with tryouts. The people who are lucky enough to make it have to memorize their lines and go through hours of practice so everything is just right.

Then, the production The Fantasticks is ready to go on. It's opening night, and the actors are getting nervous as everyone is in a hurry to put the finishing touches on make-up, lighting, and sound.

The Fantasticks was about two youngsters infatuated with each other. The kids' fathers secretly approve of the match by outwardly disapproving! They do this because they know that "to manipulate children you merely say no!"

Since it was a different kind of musical, Mary Smith, actress of the play, says "It helps if the audience has a sense of imagination and appreciation for each individual character."

The pilot Bruce LeNoble and his co-pilot, Kathy Pottner, are working the stage lights.

"Open wide, here comes the mascaral!" says Todd Smith as he gets ready for the play.

Thrilled to sit on the Scarecrow's lap is a little munchkin.

"We're off to see the Wizard!" sings Dorothy and her friends.

That's Show Biz!

"To be able to participate and re-create something that I was familiar with since I was a little kid, was a very neat experience. I think that made it special for all who participated," commented Jim Prast, portrayer of the Cowardly Lion. And for the audience, seeing The Wizard of Oz come to life on stage was very entertaining for young and old alike.

To make the munchkin scenes most effective, the parts were played and sung by elementary school students from various Menasha schools. Stage scenes, props, and some of the costumes were prepared by the actors themselves, with the added talents of a few art and home economics students.

Although it was hard to beat the television version of The Wizard of Oz, the excitement of the actors made the musical a close recreation of the T.V. version. All this hard work and determination on the part of the drama department could not have done without the help of Mr. Walters (drama director), and Mr. Hebeler (music director).

The main characters were played by Steve Dahle, the Tin Man; Jim Prast, the Lion; Todd Smith, the Scarecrow; Lisa Voss and Cindy Schaefer, Dorothy; Mary Smith, the Good Witch, Laura Seter, the Wicked Witch; and Steve Mehl, Oz.

"There's my little pretty!" says the Wicked Witch as she plots against Dorothy.

"Don't worry, you'll be fine when the time comes," says Lori Jankowski as she pins up a munchkin's hair.

Just what the world needs — two Don Springhetti's!

The Kings' Daughters of Neenah-Menasha is a group of high school girls devoted to serving the community and helping the under-privileged. They sponsor a variety of activities throughout the year, including Christmas and Halloween parties for the mentally retarded, aiding the Big Sisters, and visiting nursing homes.

Each year the King's Daughters sponsor a semi-formal dance for high schoolers in the Neenah-Menasha area. This year the dance was held at the Labor Temple in Neenah. The only catch about this dance was that the girl had to ask the guy to go, and then pay for their dinner and tickets. However, most students welcomed this change — especially the guys. Senior Doug Gries commented, "I thought it was kind of neat because usually we have to do all the asking." Then, of course, there is always the idea of a free meal. Dave Taves, another senior, remarked, "I think it is only fair that the girl ask the guy a couple of times throughout the year."

On The Road Again

One of the highlights at MHS this spring was when the Marching Band, Flag Squad and Pom-pon squad took a trip to Washington D.C. and New York City. They performed at the Capitol Building; were in a field competition, and marched in the Cherry Blossom Parade.

Before coming home, the students had the chance to spend a day sightseeing in New York City and to see the musical, "Annie."

Nineteen Menasha High School German students and Frau Stirniman participated in the I.S.E. (Intercultural Student Experiences) program to Germany in the spring of 1982. The students landed in Frankfurt and then boarded a bus for their tour through charming Bavaria. The students visited such cities as Munich, Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Lindau and Tothenburg. Even though the touring was fun, the high point for many students was the family-stay portion of the trip. Each student lived with a German family for six days near Munsingen. It was a fantastic time for all.

Spanish students from Menasha High spent a week on the beach at Mazatlan swimming, para-sailing, and shopping. Later they traveled by train through the mountains and across a canyon three times larger than the Grand Canyon. In Chihuahua they were welcomed by families who were their hosts for two weeks. Students from the private bilingual school, Isaac Newton, later came to Menasha to spend two weeks with Menasha High students and their families.

Well, it was that time of the year again. Time for buying dresses, renting tuxes, and picking out corsages. What time was it? It was Prom time, of course! This is probably the most exciting time of a student's year if they attend the prom.

After a long, hot week of working on decorations, the gym finally was ready. After the preparations were finished, the dance began. Excitement twinkled in the eyes of the people as they waited to enter through the doors into the dimly lit, beautifully decorated gymnasium from which mellow music overflowed.

"Roadsters" provided the music for the dance. Post-prom was held at Bridgekort, where students were able to play tennis, racquetball, swim, sauna, and dance. Tim Maurer said, "The band was slow, but Bridgekort was excellent. It gave us somewhere to go."

"It was one of the last times during the year when you get to be with everyone as a school function," commented Bill Hammett.

Jackie Meyer was one of few people who showed up to decorate in the hot, muggy gym.

A Family Affair

D. Parker

A happy Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gries!!

... I now pronounce you man and wife." These are the words that many Menasha High School seniors will hear sometime in their life.

The senior students shared these words as they were brought together to view and participate in three simulated weddings in January. The weddings, performed at St. Timothy's Church, were Roman Catholic, Lutheran, and Moslem ceremonies.

Brides and grooms were: Tonja Clausen and David Henseler (Roman Catholic), Debbie Robinson and Doug Gries (Lutheran), and Michelle West and Don Skibba (Moslem).

This project was done for the family living class, in which students learn various tactics about dating, love, and selecting the mate which is best suited for them. They also learn how to deal with problems which arise with marriage, and how to cope with death and dying.

They are only simulated weddings Julie, don't cry.

"When I was little my parents started me swimming. My mom would take me into the deep end and let me paddle around. From then on it was swimming all the way. I have been swimming for 13 years."

Kelly Corrigan has been on the MHS swim team for all her Bluejay years. She has practiced every day after school and many mornings before school to get as good as she is. Kelly held the record for the 100 backstroke, and during her freshman year her 400 freestyle relay broke the record at conference. She then went to sectionals and there qualified for state competition.

The 1981-1982 girls' swim team was a splashing success. The varsity team maintained a record of 3-10, even with the pool out of order for two weeks. One varsity swimmer added, "It was disgusting, all greenish brown and freezing. We had to swim in it most of the time, but for the last few practices we went to the Appleton YMCA."

The J.V. team completed the season with a winning score of 6-8. Kim Brunn, a member of the J.V. team said, "I feel good about this year's J.V. team. We all could improve, but we weren't that bad. We all worked really hard, and a lot of times it paid off."

M.H.S. sent Wendy Weyenberg to state this year. Although Wendy placed eleventh, it was a great honor for her to represent M.H.S. as a freshman.

A Smashing Performance

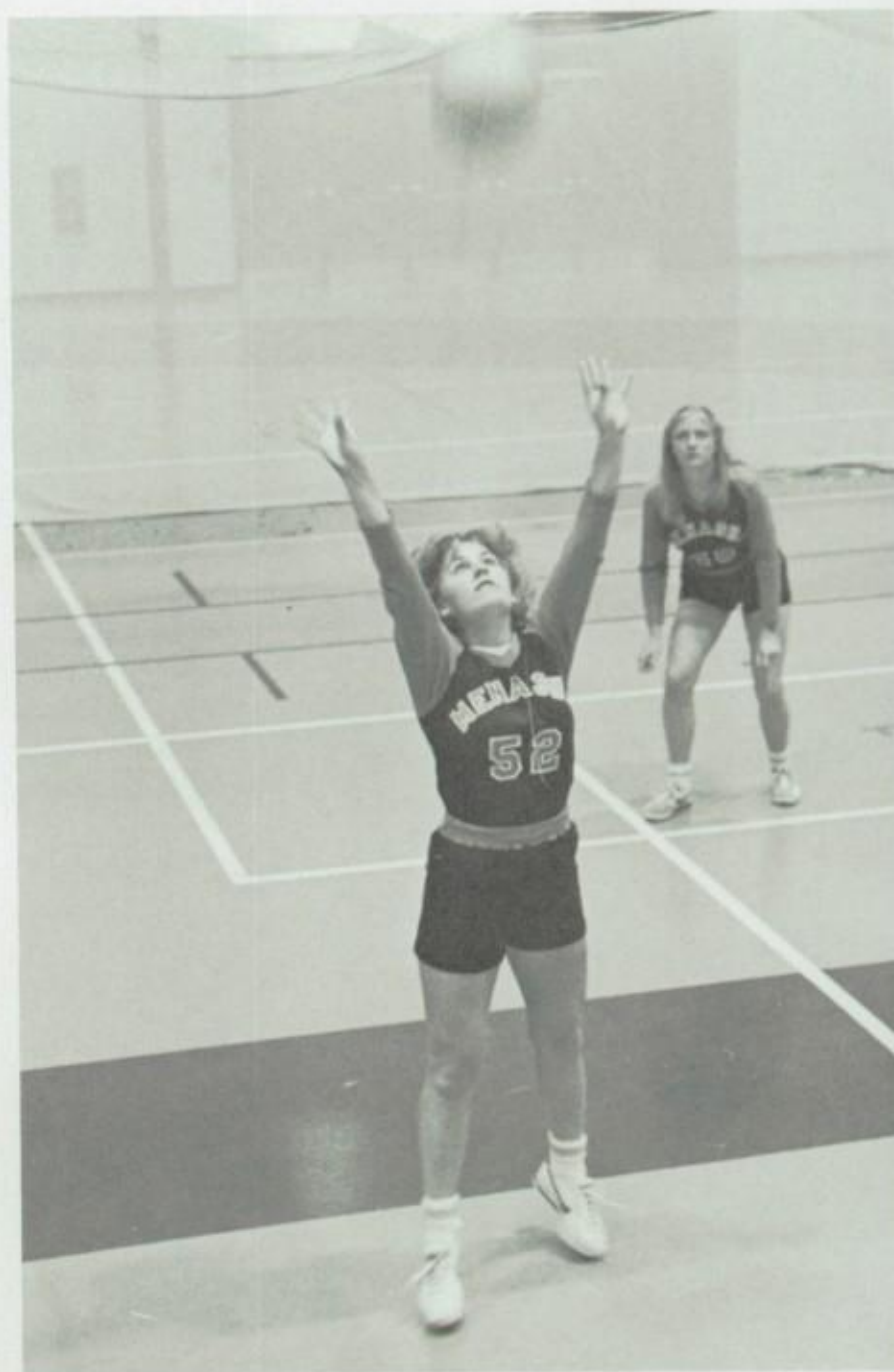

When asked how she felt about this volleyball season, Coach Mader replied . . . "Oh, what a year!" The season had many ups and downs. The girls took third place in the Wisconsin Rapids Invitational and a second in their own Menasha Invitational. They also placed second in Regionals. The highlight of their season was beating Neenah for the first time in MHS history. The Bluejays ended up with a 5-9 record in conference and an 11-13 record overall. The Junior Varsity team owned a 6-8 record. Even though the teams did not have a winning season, the girls learned something special — MHS pride.

A team vote led to the presentation of certain awards at the banquet — Hustle Award went to Becky Kuepper and MVP to Cathy Braun.

This season, the team was led by co-captains Judy Kraus and Cathy Braun. These two were fortunate enough to be chosen to the All-Conference team, which was selected by the coaches within the conference. Braun was elected as a conference spiker, and Kraus as a conference setter. Kraus is the only MHS player ever to receive this honor two years in a row.

The tension mounts as the boys await the sound of the gun.

"I can do it, I know I can," says Mark Nichols.

This year's boys' cross country team donated an air of excitement to every Bluejay fan. Through the inspiration of coach Terry Langan and captain Doug Hildebrandt, the team maintained a steady challenge to the opposition. They were an unusually young team with little experience, but together with a common goal they worked for near perfection.

"We had a young team, but we worked together and did the best we could," commented coach Terry Langan.

Five team members, however, were not so fortunate as to participate in the entire season because of illness or injury.

The team's hard work, however, did not go unrewarded. They completed the season with high placement in numerous meets.

"I get a natural high

— Doug Hildebrandt

"I started running in cross country just to get in shape and continued it because I enjoyed it," said team captain Doug Hildebrandt.

Although he only ran his junior and senior years he proved his exceptional talent in running. Even though he feels he could have done better he gave it his best and became a number one runner.

Barb Hastie was voted most improved in cross country this year. She improved about 1 to 1½ minutes in the two mile run. To achieve this it took very much work. She ran year round and on some days she had a double workout in speed runs and distance runs. She likes running so she didn't mind running all year, yet sometimes the practice seemed like it was unreasonable because "the workout doesn't show up until the race."

Road Runners – Catch Them If You Can . . .

... and most of the time you can't. The cross country girls team had a fantastic year. They had 76 wins, 17 losses, which is a 82% winning margin. At the first meet of the year, the Terror Invitational, they took first. They defeated the ninth and tenth ranked teams in State at the Eagle Invitational, and that took second to the fourth ranked team.

Their record was especially good since they lacked depth. They competed against larger teams and still did extremely well.

Through the tremendous effort put forth by the Blue-jays, the team ended up with a winning record of 8-6. Heading these talented netters in the first three singles positions were Barb, Tina, and Kelly. "Everybody played their best ever, especially against Neenah," commented Susie Greisser. The 1981 fighting Bluejays knew both joyful victories and crushing defeats.

The season started out with a nail-biting victory over Sheboygan North with a score of 7-6. The Bluejays went on to lose their next five games, but that doesn't reflect how hard they played and the success they achieved.

This included homecoming against Appleton West, who were semi-finalists at state. This game was a stinging defeat, but the Bluejays showed how powerful they were by winning their last three games against Oshkosh West, Neenah, and Kaukauna. Neenah and Kaukauna victories were both won in hard fought overtimes.

— Daryl Wendt

Daryl Wendt, number 23, played slotback and defensive back for the JV football team.

Daryl has been playing first string football for two years, this being his first year as a Bluejay. He made one interception and scored one touchdown this season.

When asked if his teammates helped his game, Daryl said, "Yes, most of the time we cheer each other on. We congratulate our teammates and try to give them confidence."

In answering if he would be playing next year, Daryl replied with a definite, "Yes! I think we should have a very good team next year, as well as, if not better than, we did this year."

All ★ Wrestling

Although the team did not have a winning season, each member of the 1981-82 Varsity Wrestling team was, in fact, an "All-Star Wrestler." There were many individual victories and performances that will go unforgotten. "The guys really pulled together this season. We had a lot of fun," remarked Bruce Hornes.

Those wrestlers fortunate enough to progress to Sectionals included Eric Mayer and tri-captains Fred Nauber, Don Skibba, and Bruce Hornes. Bruce placed first in the Regional Tournament. Menasha did not send any wrestlers to the State Tournament.

The season came to a close leaving the team with a conference record of 0-7. Those who were honored as outstanding participants were: Don Skibba-MVP, Bruce Hornes-Coach's Award, Jacob Wil-Most Improved, Bob Luebke-Most Courageous, and Bruce Hornes-Jacobsen Memorial.

Don also played football, but feels wrestling is his favorite sport, because he thinks he's better at it and says the rewards are greater.

This year the Junior Varsity wrestling squad was young and inexperienced. Through the determination of the team and the support of their coach, Dan Parker, they finished the season with a 3-4 record.

The J.R. team tries to specialize in hustle: in several games they literally blew their opponents off the court.

At the end of each season the players are awarded with a certificate for completing the sport in good standing.

The Rookies

The Junior Varsity boys' basketball team finished their season with two wins and 16 losses, defeating Kaukauna and Oshkosh West.

When Loren Wagner was asked how he felt about their season, he responded, "We had an up-and-down year."

Having the spirit each member of the team had was a great asset to the season. Even though the JV's finished their season with more losses than wins, each member made a terrific effort through their ability and determination.

"We were off to a bad start, but gradually built up strength to put up a good fight," remarked Kurt Schoendorf.

The Sharp Shooters

The Bluejays, displaying mid-season form, opened the season with an impressive win over FRV conference champion, Sheboygan North. They finished the season with an overall record of 11-8 and a conference record of 9-5. "I was pleased with the season, but I thought we would be a little better," stated Coach Massey. A high point of the season was when the Bluejays defeated Appleton West at West. This was the first time in six years Menasha won at West, and the first time in nine years they took two games from the Terrors.

In the last six years, Menasha compiled a record of 60-28 in conference. "The seniors really carried on our winning tradition. I was pleased with that," Coach Massey said. The Bluejays placed three people on the all-conference squad. They were Dave Comber, Mike Massey, and Jon Hauser. The Bluejays are expected to be tough next year because they still have three outstanding let-termen returning.

"At the age of three, my brother hung up a clothes basket and gave me a ball to throw in it."

— John Hauser

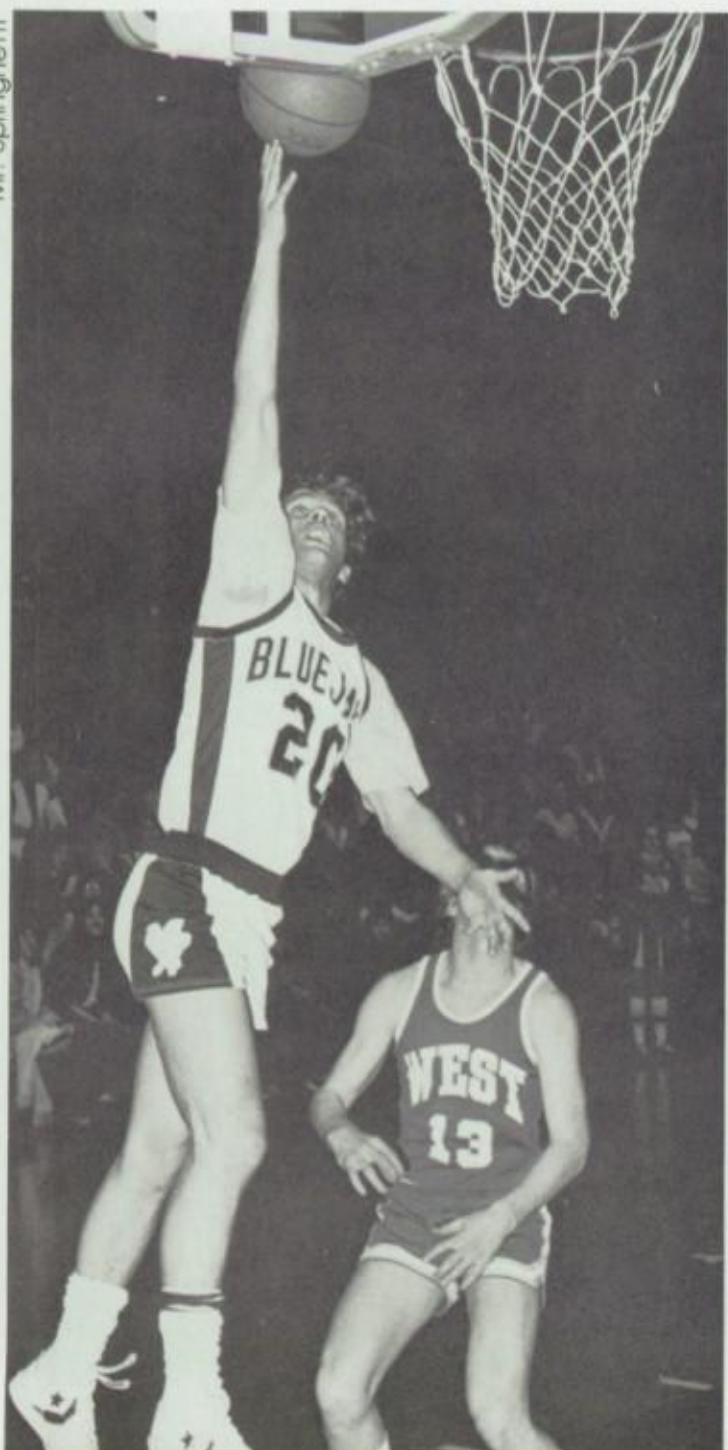

Menasha had a player voted first team all-conference this year, Jon Hauser. To achieve this honor, he had to work long and hard at basketball.

His brother introduced basketball to him at the age of three. Jon didn't enjoy basketball that much at first because his brother tried to share his enthusiasm of basketball a little too much. Jon continued to play even though complications nearly ended basketball for him. One of these was being cut from the team in 4th grade. Jon made the best of a bad situation, though, and took this opportunity to practice even harder and eventually made the team in 5th grade. His talent began to surface in 6th grade.

Since he put so much effort in the sport, his dedication became an asset throughout high school. Jon also had goals which he had set for himself. "My ambition was to be a starter in high school because when I was younger I would go to the games and I always looked up to the players." Jon must have many young kids looking up to him today, too.

"Even though we had a record of 3-15, we learned and gained many experiences, remarks Lisa Coenen, a member of the girls' JV basketball team.

Although their record didn't show it, this year's girls' basketball team put forth much effort. Many of their games were hard-fought battles resulting in losses of only one or two points. One of their greatest moments was beating Oshkosh North in double overtime. Surely, this season has provided the skills and experiences needed for these talented young players to shoot for a winning record next year.

That's The Way The Ball Bounces

Throughout the varsity girls' basketball season, all team members tried to keep up their spirit and determination. Although they had a rough season with most of their games, they still had hopes of winning. Even if they lost the majority of their games, they still fought hard to improve their record. One player, Dawn Kraus, stated, "I feel many of the team members lacked in their team work."

Although this year's varsity girls team had a 3-15 record, they should be given credit for their outstanding ability to have kept on going.

Team honors were awarded to Cathy Braun. She also received high scorer and high rebounder awards. Awards were also granted to Kelly Leintz, hustler award; and Sharon Cherveny, free throw award.

Sharon's basketball career will be ending this year, because she wants to devote more time to future college studies instead of basketball. Sharon will be entering the nursing program at UW Oshkosh next fall, and in her spare time she wishes to play in the intramural program.

Sharon's family influenced her playing, but it was her brother that got Sharon really interested in it. She started playing seriously back in the seventh grade. She usually practiced about 2½ to 3 hours per day, and also practiced out of season which helped her shooting.

The highlight of Sharon's season was being able to start during her senior year.

Basketball is not the only sport Sharon is interested in. She also likes volleyball, softball, and swimming.

The Bluejay Lagoon

Looking at their record, the Boys' Swim Team looks like it had a very disappointing season. This is not the case. Although they only won one meet, everyone did their best. The "swimming jays" were very proud to send senior Jeff Stepanski to state for the second year in a row.

The team was a very young, inexperienced group consisting mainly of sophomores who show much promise. In the years to come the "swimming jays" have much to look forward to in the Bluejay Lagoon.

His speed in the water has brought him fame throughout the valley, even the state.

"I didn't like it when kids younger than me were beating me," comments Jeff. "It takes dedication and hard work to win."

Match Game '82

The 1981-82 boy's tennis team will be one remembered for rebuilding. Former coach Kenney was replaced by Dr. Mortenson. Many experienced '81 graduates were replaced by young freshmen and sophomores.

Despite the few adjustments that took place throughout the season, each team member worked to his ultimate potential. This year was one in which many members improved tremendously, and young team members had the opportunity to train for their future years at MHS.

The ability to return the ball is one of the keys to Todd Smith's success.

— Mark McCook

Mark McCook, a senior, was an outstanding asset to the varsity tennis team. He started playing when he was very young, and living near Smith Park gave him the opportunity to practice often.

Mark feels that there are many talented underclassmen on the team, and that their experience will benefit the team in future years. His own experience and skill will be an inspiration to younger members on the team.

Perhaps an interesting point in Mark's success is that he is the only one in his family who plays tennis. His motivation and drive were triggered entirely on his own.

Gone With The Wind

The 1981-1982 girls' track team gave their very best effort at every meet, whether they competed or cheered the others girls to the finish. One great asset they had was the feeling of unity, which brought the girls together as a team.

The girls' team was a young team, with eight returning seniors and 26 underclassmen. They quickly matured and became outstanding competitors in head-to-head competition. "Seniors make up an important part of the team. Having a team mainly of sophomores is not only hard on the coach, but on an individual as well. I am encouraging sophomores and juniors to stay on through their senior year," commented Mr. Langan.

Along with the supervision of Mr. Langan, who has been coaching for two years, Mike Tesch and Dave Springhetti (previous MHS graduates) brought fresh ideas as assistant coaches for the success of the girls.

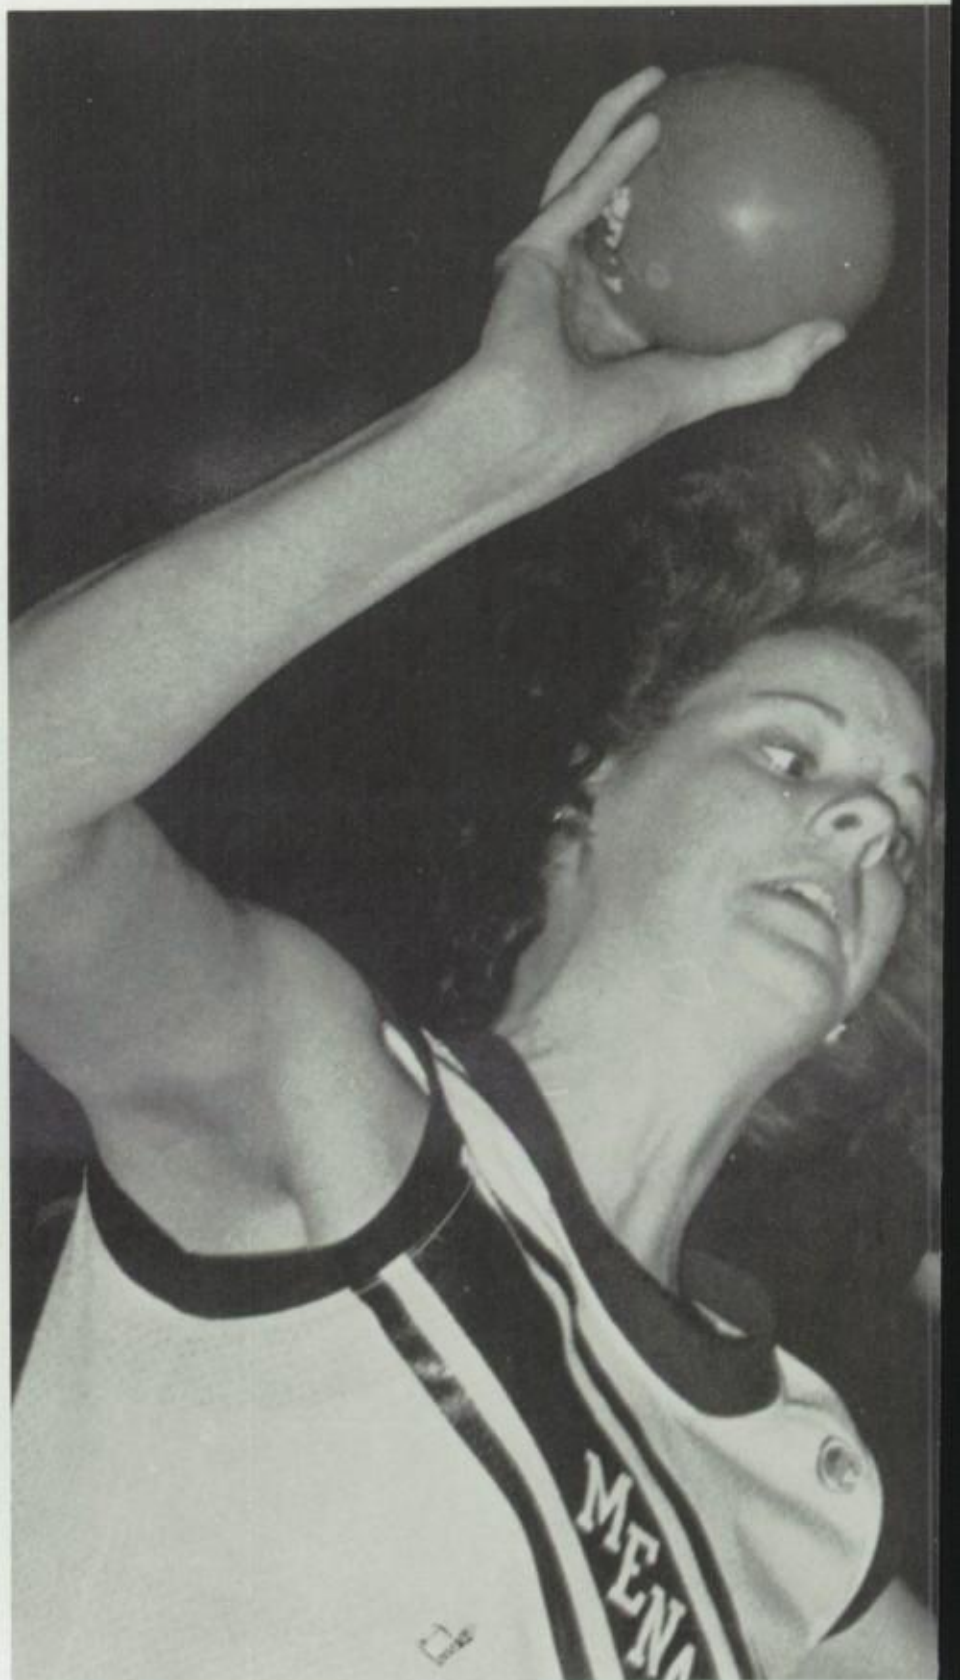

During the season, more than six school records were broken. Senior Barb Hastie broke the outdoor record for the two-mile run with a time of 11:56.6. Other team members who broke records were; junior Mary Day, shot put and discus throws; and sophomore Kelly Leintz, 220 yard run and long jump. Mary Day was the only Bluejay girl to qualify for state competition.

"My shoes are really tired," laughs Barb Hastie after breaking the 2-mile run record at Oshkosh North.

As a senior member of the track team, Sue Fischer acquired her outstanding ability from four years of experience.

"I actually encouraged myself to go out for track. I like to run and wanted to participate in school activities."

When asked what event she worked especially hard for, Sue answered, "I really like the hurdles. I try extra hard and do the very best I can. The hurdles are more of a challenge to me than straight running."

"Support from my teammates and coaches, as well as people in the stands, help me a great deal. They help me push my way to the finish. I know I'm doing it for them as well as for myself."

Sue plans on attending the Fox Valley Technical Institute in Appleton after graduation, and she says if the tech sponsored a track team, she definitely would go out for it.

The 1982 Boys' Track Team got off to a shakey start in the indoor season, but showed their talent as the outdoor season wore on. "If hard work and sweat shows talent, then yes, we have talent. Track is an individual sport and each person possesses his own unique talent. Each person has used his talent to make himself a better human being through the track program," commented Coach Hoks.

The goal of many team members this season was to trim a second off their time. They find this difficult, if not impossible, to attain. One second seems like a very small amount of time, but one second in the 440 can be an eternity.

Fortunate enough to go to State this year were: Jeff Stepanski, Mark Mentzel, Tony Bednaroski, Dan Murphy, and Rich Wessenberg.

Bluejay Ball

The Menasha High baseball team was under new direction this year. Mr. Waldvogel, formerly the JV coach, was the new varsity coach this year. Coach Waldvogel's squad was evenly split between the juniors and seniors, with nine of each on the team.

Because of the rainy April weather, the Bluejays had trouble starting the season. When they finally started the season they opened with a 12-6 win over Kaukauna. A highlight of the season was beating previously unbeaten Appleton East at east with a score of 9-7. During this game the Bluejays exploded for 16 hits. They made an attempt to continue the form they had at Appleton East throughout the rest of the season.

Mike Mortensen takes a healthy cut.

Doug Kuen is a "transplant" to Menasha from Appleton Xavier. Luckily for us, Doug turned out to be one of Menasha's best pitchers. "I'm really glad to be playing for the Bluejays," Doug said.

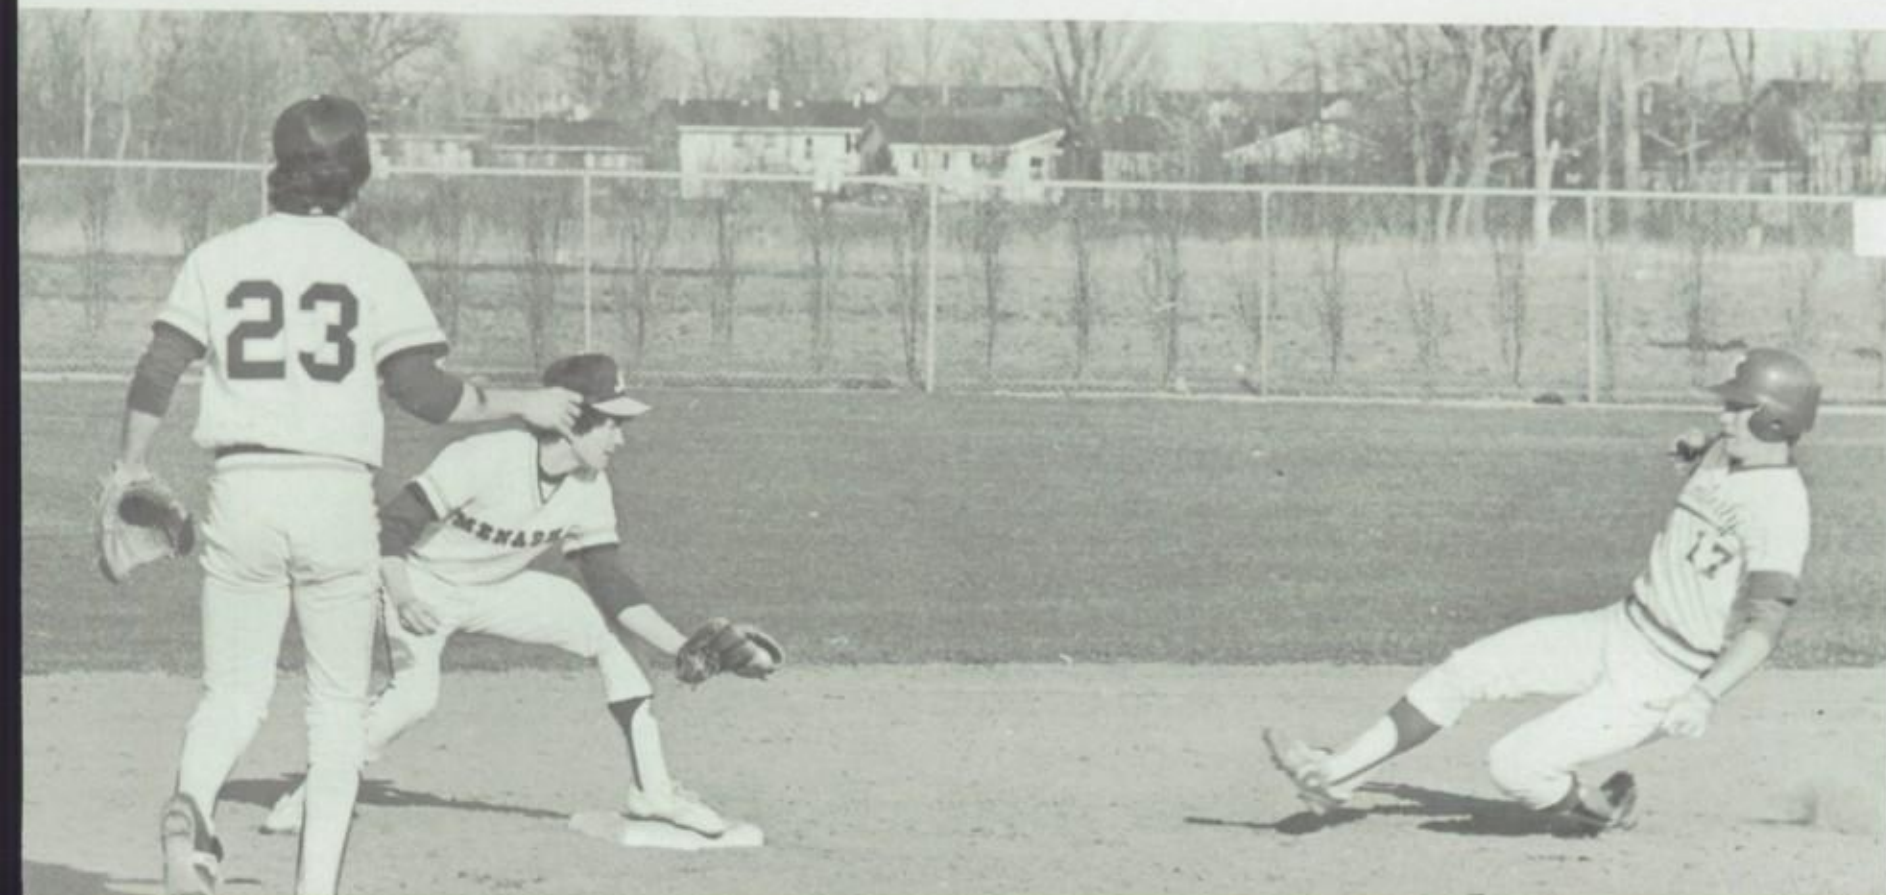

Doug began his career in T-league, and continued with the usual steps of little league, Babe Ruth, and Senior Babe Ruth on his way to playing for Menasha. During an all-star Babe Ruth game, Doug remembers one of his most unpleasant experiences while pitching. The score was tied, in the bottom of the seventh inning, with two outs and a full-count. Doug threw a ball forcing a run for the other team and the game was ended. Another memorable moment was when he had a seven game winning streak as a freshman.

Doug, like every other pitcher, has thrown a couple of wild pitches. One such pitch hit the batter and shattered his helmet. Fortunately the batter wasn't hurt.

Doug has played a lot of baseball and plans to continue with legion baseball.

The JV squad was fortunate to have their freshman coach promoted to JV level. Mr. Koslowski led the squad this year. Coach Koslowski said, "It is easier to coach the same group for two years. I knew what to expect." He enjoyed leading this squad because "they are a great group of kids to work with."

The beginning of this season was in contrast to their freshman year when they were conference champions. This fine group of kids hope to accomplish the goal which they achieved their freshman year.

Who's that behind those Foster Grants? It must be Coach Kozie hitting a few practice shots to his fielders!

"Being a catcher means doing the dirty work."

— Loren Wagner

The equipment is heavy, the work is hard, and the throw to second base is long. Loren Wagner holds up well to these demanding requirements of his job. He was the catcher for the JV baseball team this year. Coach Koslowski said he also has the ability to play third base and outfield.

He has been catching since little league and at first he didn't like it because of the "little bumps and bruises" you get. One of these injuries was when he got hit in the throat during Babe Ruth. Early this season he had another "little bump" — he injured his thumb during one of the games. This hampered his hitting, and he couldn't bat until the middle of the season. But, despite all the bumps and bruises, baseball is still Loren's favorite sport. "I enjoy baseball because it is very interesting and fun." He plans to continue his baseball career by playing on varsity and legion teams.

Hot Hits

The Bluejays started the season off pretty shakey, losing their first 2 games and putting up with rainy weather, but improved tremendously as the season progressed. "The girls are good hard workers and are well respected by other teams," quotes Coach Retzlaff.

Chosen by the team, tri-captains Judy Kraus, Becky Kuepper, and Shawn Walsh provided the team with good leadership. A team goal that was fulfilled was to never give up, and they didn't. "We played hard until the very end," says Becky Kuepper.

Next year's team has a lot of returning lettermen coming back and should be just as strong.

Cathy Braun takes a nice cut.

Debbie Rodriguez jumps back safely to first base.

"In my opinion, the best thing about softball is the team itself."
— Judy Kraus

Judy Kraus, a senior on the team, has played three years on the varsity level. Her first two years were spent primarily catching. During her final season, Judy was both a catcher and a pitcher.

When asked what sparked her interest in softball, Judy replied: "My father encouraged me to play softball. It's really an enjoyable sport." Judy proves her love for softball by playing in summer leagues.

Catch That Bluejay Spirit

The MHS cheerleaders not only promote school spirit, but also let fans show their spirit by helping cheer. Whether the teams be in first place or last, the cheerleaders always show great enthusiasm at each game.

In order to have a good squad, each cheerleader must devote much time and effort to particular cheers and mounts. "It's fun being a cheerleader," says Kelly Fischer, JV basketball cheerleader. "It takes a lot of work, but it's also a lot of fun!" Cheerleaders also get a chance to be creative, thinking up cheers and putting actions to the words.

All this hard work and determination produces the unique cheerleading squads MHS has today!

Halftime Highlights

... that's exactly what the MHS Pom-pom Squad proved to be — a halftime highlight. This year's squad worked under the direction of Carol Wildenberg, advisor, and co-captains Paula Stepanski and Leissa Barnes. Tracy Schaeffer and Stacy Daczyk were managers.

The girls had a very long season, beginning with a summer camp at Whitewater in July and continuing into April when the girls performed in Washington D.C. with the MHS Marching Band and Flag Squad. Between these two important events, the girls worked through their regular season of halftime performances for both football and basketball games. They also went to a Badgerette clinic, worked at a Special Olympics bowling event, performed at the opening of the new McDonald's and at a summer show at Smith Park, and held fund raising events.

When asked to recall her most memorable event, Pam Woulf, a senior on the squad, replied: "I remember our last home performance of the year. It was the Neenah game, a big game for us, and our tape never started! The whole squad was upset over this, until we received a request from Neenah to perform at Regionals in Neenah. We received a standing ovation from both the Neenah and Menasha fans. What an accomplishment!"

Be A "Pep"per

This year's Pep Club, along with officers Julie Eichhorst, Kelly Corrigan, Karen Jensen, and Janet Liebhauser, helped promote school spirit in every Bluejay fan.

Various fund-raising activities were held, such as button sales, doughnut sales, and the annual MHS Pep Week to try and get students involved in spirit-oriented activities during Homecoming.

Pep Club has also sponsored such events such as the Homecoming dance, and the sweatshirt sale.

Although Pep Club consists of a relatively small group, their hard work does not go unrewarded. They have succeeded in their attempts in promoting enthusiasm among Bluejay fans.

Menasha High welcomes two new foreign students this year: Tonje Clausen, and Neveen Afifi.

Around The World In Eighty Days

To travel to a foreign country is something most students at MHS can only dream about. When you become a member of AFS it can get you one step closer to that dream.

AFS members sponsor other students from foreign countries, and sometimes even have the opportunity to welcome a foreign visitor into their home.

Students who traveled throughout the world this year include Sara Eckes, who traveled to Turkey; Steve Dahle, to Switzerland; and Laura Seter, to Austria. Menasha High also welcomed three students from other areas of the world. Tonje Clausen, from Oslo, Norway, stayed with Carrie Sandstrom and her family. Navine Afifi, from Cairo, Egypt; and Sophia Loor, from Ecuador, also studied here.

Name That Tune

This year's band and chorus really showed their stuff in the annual concerts. Along with many MHS students singing solos, Mrs. James Lofton appeared at the Christmas concert.

The MHS band was the only band selected from Wisconsin to perform in the Cherry Blossom Parade in Washington D.C. Along with the help of chorus, the band sold pizzas and fruit to earn money to get there.

Every year many band and chorus students participate in the solo and ensemble festival. In these contests the kids get the chance to perform for awards, and may be accepted for State competition.

Besides performing at concerts, the pep band, under the supervision of Mr. Spindler, sparked spirit at basketball games and put on great half time shows during the football season.

The swing choir, along with the madrigals, performed at the Christmas tea. During the year they Christmas caroled and entertained the students at lunch time, under the direction of Mr. Hebel.

As The World Turns

As the world turns, MHS students get a chance to share in the languages and cultures of other countries on the globe.

Several students in Frau Stirnman's German classes were also involved in the German Club. Members would meet at noon to plan activities such as a German party and a trip to a German restaurant, in conjunction with the MHS band, the German Club helped sponsor a German festival in which a band from Plymouth performed various German tunes. Before the concert took place, the Plymouth band was honored at a potluck dinner given by band and German members.

A Thanksgiving party, Spanish caroling and a south-of-the-border taco sale were the fall highlights of the Spanish Club. In May, the Spanish Club went to Green Lake to Spanish Camp. Camp was an entire weekend affair including a soccer game, a skit contest, and a dance at night.

This year's club consisted of seniors, juniors, and sophomores, with Seniors Briones acting as advisor.

Menasha High has two service clubs. The are Student Council, which serves the school; and Key Club, which serves the community.

Student Council sponsored the Homecoming dance, the talent show, bake sales, and collected money for Unicef.

Key Club's main projects this year were collecting pledges for the Oak Ridge Gardens Nursing Home Rock-A-Thon, working at a blood bank, and helping out at band programs.

Key Club and Student Council are a good way to get to know people, and they also give one a feeling they have done something useful.

To Tell The Truth

"Inherency, solvency, topicality, workability . . ." Sounds almost like a foreign language, doesn't it? Well, for this year's debate members, it's all a part of their Saturday routines.

Debate consists of speaking contests between two points of view: that of the negative and affirmative teams. The winner is chosen by a judge who fills out a critique based on his opinion of how well each team presented its ideas.

The resolution (topic) for this year stated that the Federal Government should establish minimum educational standards for elementary and secondary schools in the U.S.

The Menasha High School team participated in eight tournaments throughout the year, competing against teams from all areas of the state.

This year's team was especially excited about the fact that two of its team members, Adam Kemps and Tim Stepanski, defeated the Neenah team.

The person who joins debate discovers the meaning of teamwork, and has the opportunity to make new friends.

Cindy Schaefer and Colleen Stark were chosen to represent MHS at the State Forensics Tournament this year.

Debbie Wagner, Colleen Stark, Cindy Schaefer, Carol Thomas, Michelle Corry, Erica Parsons, Mrs. Du Four.

The Forensics Team, along with its advisor, Susan Du Four, represented MHS in competitive speaking events at surrounding schools this season.

The team members practiced their speeches as long as two hours per day until they were satisfied with the correct expression. Their efforts, however, resulted in achievements to be proud of; both for each individual member, and the team as a whole.

This year Cindy Schaefer's and Colleen Stark's techniques earned them an opportunity to participate in the State Tournament.

Like Debate, if a person joins Forensics, he/she will learn a valuable lesson in teamwork and friendship.

Waiting patiently for their turn, Michelle Corry and Carol Thomas make last minute corrections.

New & Improved

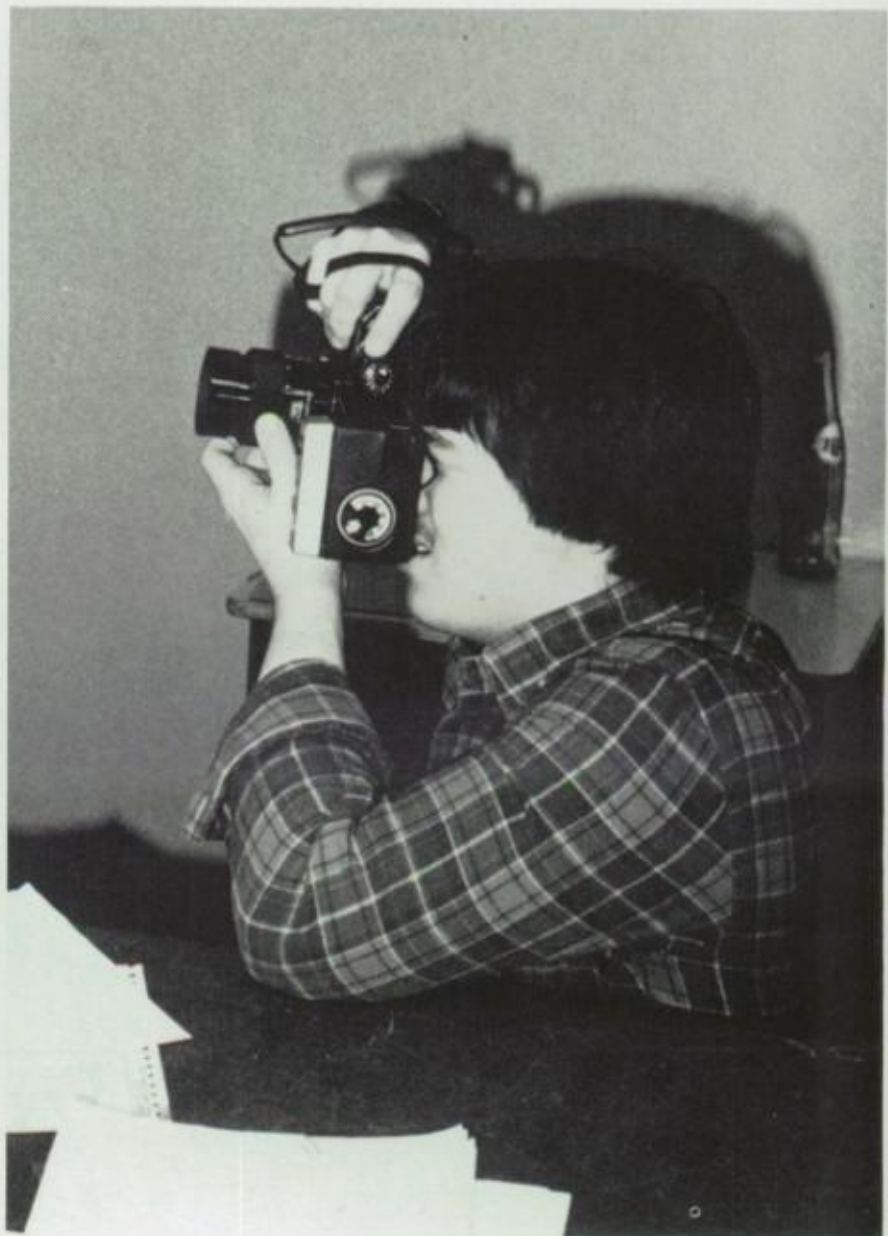

Teamwork, a vital necessity for the Nicolet staff, is displayed by Pam Woulf and Dawn Dombrowski.

First-year member Laura Lietz is caught in a rare moment of work.

Steve Clement focuses his camera to get the best possible shot.

"Nicolet gave me an interesting change in my schedule."

In today's competitive society, everybody seems to be making things "new and improved." Well, the 1981-82 Nicolet is no exception. New was the staff, and improved was the book.

Many of this year's members were inexperienced in the procedures and routine that a yearbook requires. However, they all caught on very quickly and joined in the effort of creating this book of memories. The Nicolet offered many students the opportunity to add a touch of variety to their ordinary schedules. Sue Morrison, a senior on the staff, reflected, "Nicolet gave me an interesting change in my schedule."

Members of the yearbook staff started off the year by selling twice as many ads as the previous year. This resulted in eight more color pages in the opening section. Sport spotlights, feature stories, and headlines reflected the movie theme chosen by the staff.

For the second year in a row, Mrs. Meulemans and Mr. Springhetti advised the yearbook staff. Mrs. Meulemans commented, "I thought it would be a lot easier this year since I'd been through it all once before. It still wasn't easy, but we managed to come up with some new ideas." Chris Roemer, Mrs Bath, and Ed Robinson also helped in the area of photography. Together, the yearbook staff and advisors gave up much of their spare time in order to beat those fast-approaching deadlines.

Working to beat the deadline, Jill Jacobs and Gwen Wittman look through mounds of paperwork.

In The News

The students of MHS count on the Bird's Eye View for information of past, present, and future news. "I like to read it because it informs me of school events," says Judy Kraus, a senior.

The newspaper is written and printed every month by students themselves. This process is under the direction of Mrs. Clewell and Mrs. Wichman, advisors; and Patti Dietz, editor. Patti Dietz reflects on the learning experience the Bird's Eye View has provided for her, "Being on the newspaper has helped me keep a clear outlook on life. I have learned that everyone is different and deserves individual attention."

Cindy Zimmer has no respect for Patti Dietz, the editor.

Harlem In Menasha

This year's intramurals consisted of nine boys' teams playing basketball on Monday nights. Playoffs were held during February, and the winning team (the Blackhawks) played against a team of faculty members.

There are no girls' intramurals yet, but perhaps in the future we may see some girls' teams out there on the courts.

Intramurals gives the student who didn't make a regular team the chance to play. Mr. Van Lanen, advisor for the intramurals, said, "Intramurals is a good outlet for students who didn't get to play on an organized team."

Intramurals is a good way for students to use their free time and have plenty of fun and exercise while participating.

Dick Wojohn clobbers Todd Korth on the rebound.

Making The Grade

... is only part of what National Honor Society is all about. The average grade point needed for seniors to be considered for society is 3.35 and for juniors, 3.5. This year 53 new members were awarded this honor along with the 19 returning seniors elected last year. National Honor Society is based upon scholarship, character, leadership, and service to both community and school. Congratulations to those awarded this 1981-82 honor!

The Snow Must Go On

The skiers at MHS were excited and ready to try the slopes after the second big snowstorm this season. "I love the snow," one sophomore student replied, "I can't wait to try the slopes."

This winter was considered one of the worst winters the Fox Valley has had in years. We had two bad snowstorms that hit within one week, causing huge piles of white stuff everywhere! School was even called off one day because of the twelve inches of snow and four foot high drifts. Besides all the snow, we also had some extremely cold weather. On two consecutive weekends in January, temperatures reached -20 with a wind chill factor of -58.

People who liked the snow were skiers, snowmobilers, and tobogganers. People who disliked the snow and cold mainly were the ones who had to shovel the wicked stuff, or who had to travel on the slippery roads!

And for those of you who don't care for winter, look on the bright side — winter only comes once a year!

Saturday Night At The Movies

Got the Saturday night blues? Many MHS students live up their weekends by going to movies.

Movie prices range anywhere from $2.50 to $3.50 for students. With approximately 8 movie theaters in the area, students have a wide variety to choose from on any one night. Cable TV and HBO also provide movie fans with a chance to see some of their favorite movies on their own TV sets.

Some of the popular movies of 1981-82 were:

Arthur	On Golden Pond
Endless Love	Only When I Laugh
Fade to Black	Reds
Heavy Metal	Stripes
Modern Problems	Taps

Going In Style

This year T-shirts maintained their popularity with MHS students. Generally, one can buy a T-shirt for $8-$15. They are easy to care for, and go with almost any pair of pants you can find.

"I think T-shirts are great — they are fun to wear and show off a person's personality," said Michelle Miller, a sophomore.

Some of the sayings that would probably catch your eye are:

— Conserve Energy.
Sleep in Class

— I'm the Kind of Kid My Parents Don't Want Me to

— I Love School - When
It's Closed

Double Vision

Did you ever yell for someone and notice you yelled for the wrong person? You could have made an honest mistake if you were talking about one of the seven sets of twins in the sophomore class.

The seven sets include Joy and Jan Blum, Kim and Tim Brunn, Ken and Kennette Brueggeman, Katie and Jeff Feavel, Dave and Dan Racette, Debbie and Diane Wagner, and Donnie and Ronnie Wilkinson.

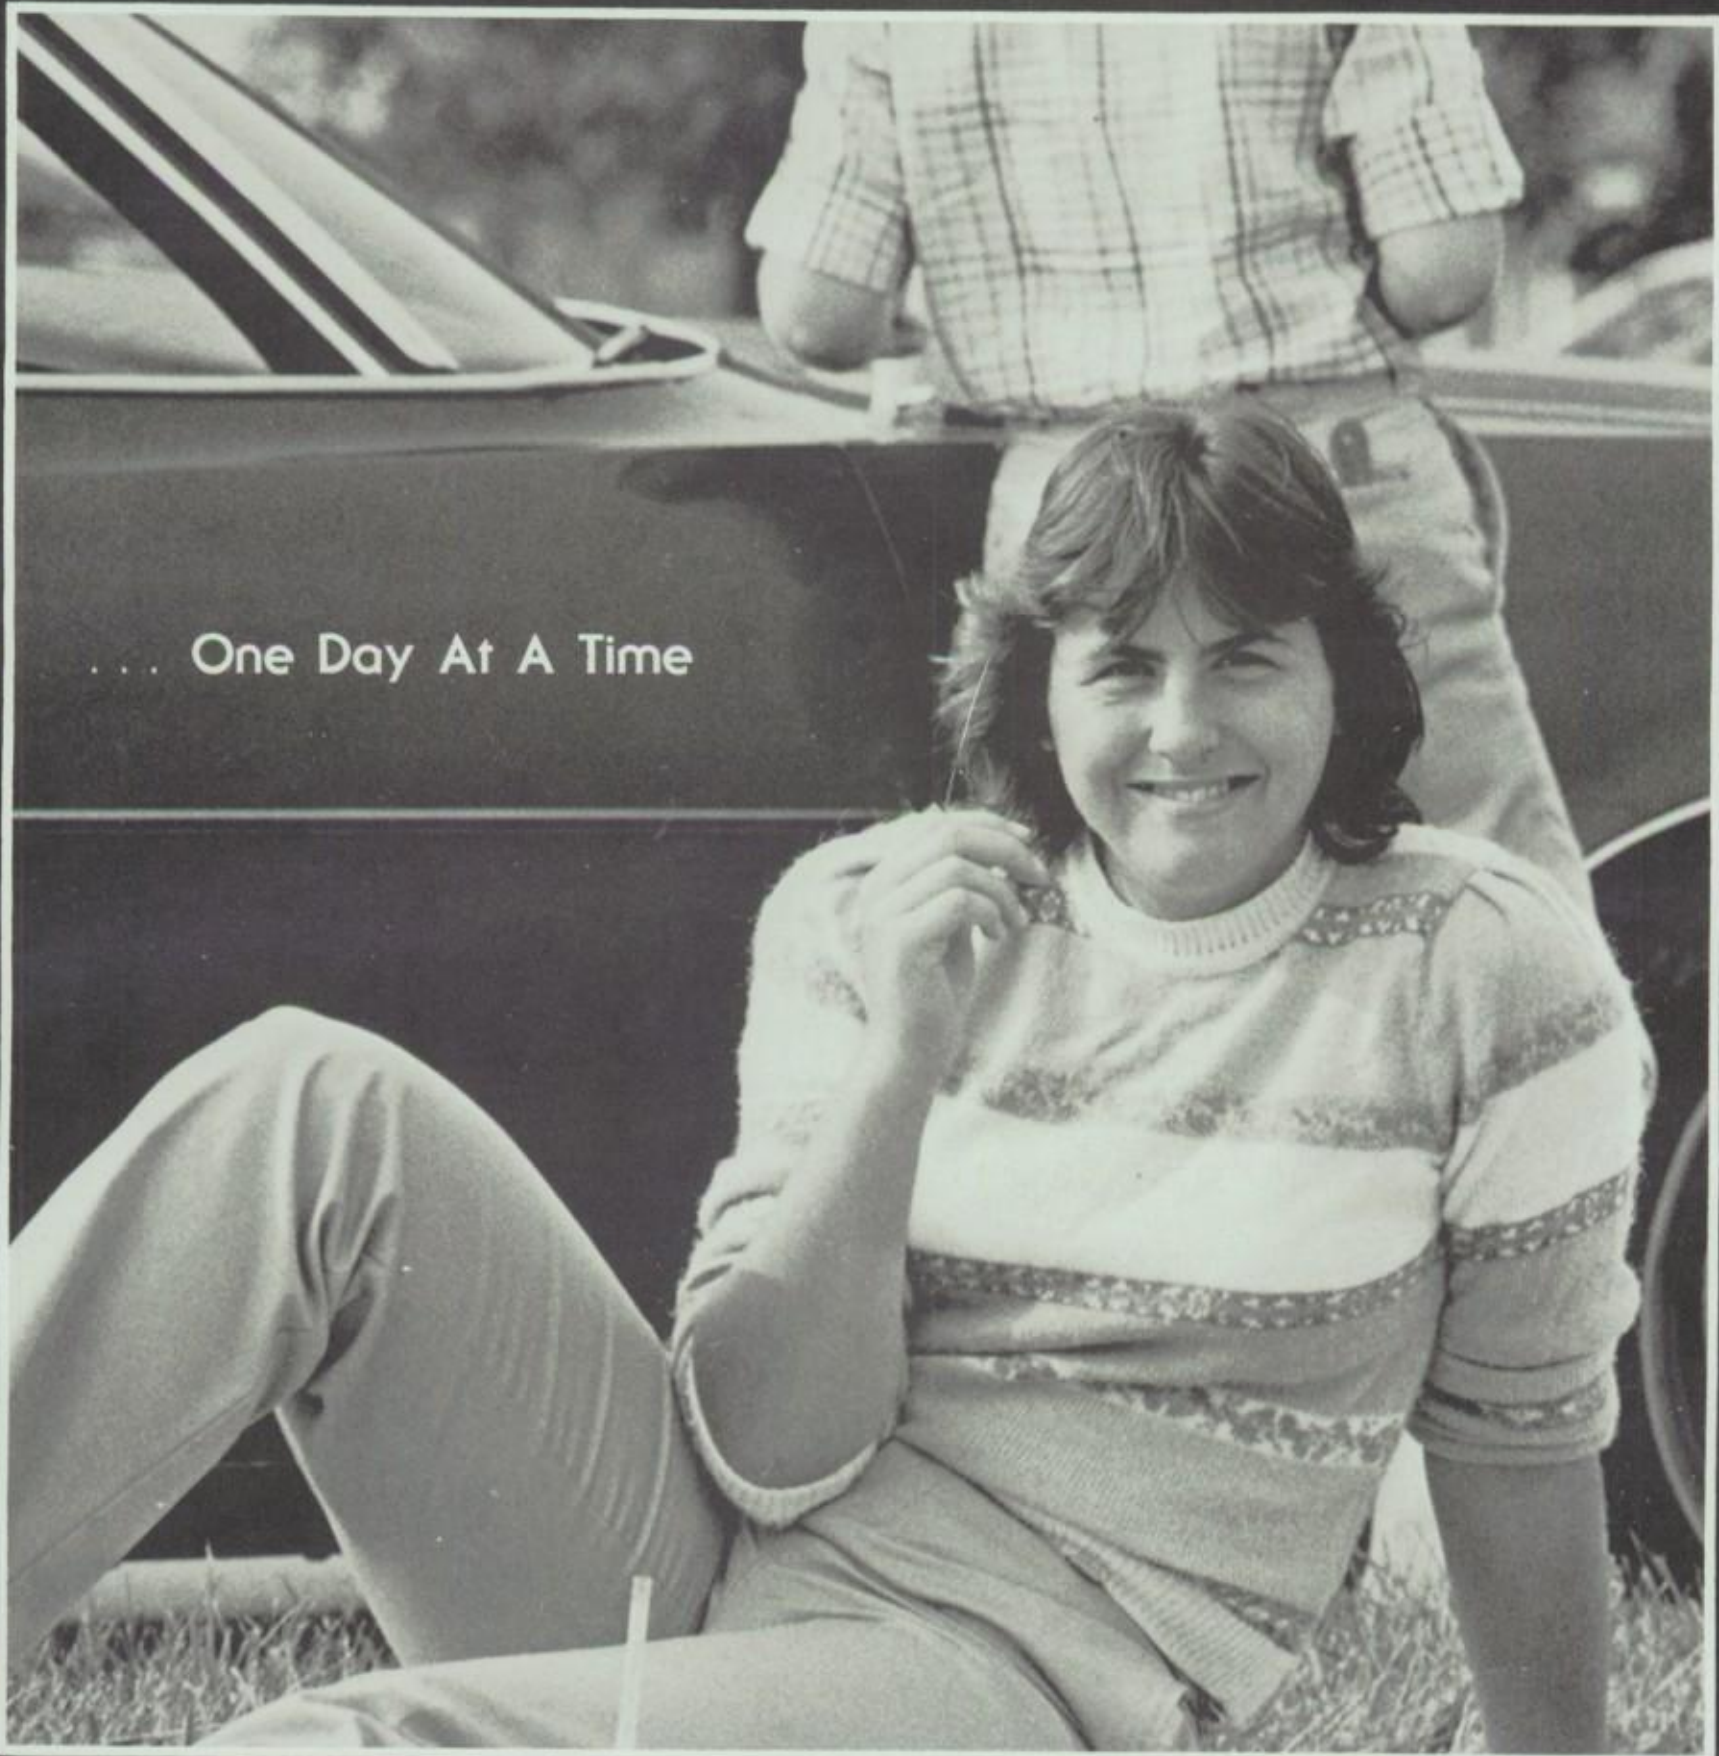

When asked how she liked being a twin, Jan Blum replied, "It sometimes bothers me when people call me Joy, but it is fun to be a twin." "I am glad to be a twin," said Katie Feavel, "I guess in a way we are sort of special."

In all, there are approximately twenty-four sets of twins attending Menasha High this year.

Life In The Fast Lane

Can you imagine yourself cruising down the road with the wind whipping in your hair? Fortunately, 2 juniors we talked to are able to do this. The reason for this is they own their own cars. Who are these lucky juniors? Wendy Van-Handel and Tom Jarosinski, of course!

Wendy owns a light blue 1979 Trans-Am, while Tom is the owner of a yellow Firebird. When asked what the best part of owning your own car is, Wendy replied, "I can take it when ever I want." Tom was asked if there were any bad aspects of owning a car and he replied, "Paying for gas and insurance, and giving people rides."

Costs of owning a car can be very great — adding up car payments, insurance, and gasoline can become very expensive, but to these people it's worth it.

Name That Tune

Music seems to be one of many pastimes for M.H.S. students. No matter where you go you're bound to hear a group rockin' the halls and kids tappin' to the beat. Some students prefer to punk with the Clash and Kinks, while others prefer to rock with the Cars, Rolling Stones, and AC/DC. No matter what kind of music you like, you'll always hear one type roaming through the halls of M.H.S.

Many students own "jam boxes," which are portable stereos. They have radios in them along with either an 8-track or cassette player. These are very popular. There were complaints that the music was too loud in the halls, so the owners turned the volume down — just a bit. After all — you can't turn AC/DC down too far, can you?

How Gross!

How does peanut butter, raisins, and bananas sound? Or maybe even cheese, pickles, and mayo? These are some of Tom Brown's favorite gross sandwiches. Searching for an even "grosser" sandwich, we found Mr. Pawelkiewicz eating peanut butter, banana, and lettuce on whole wheat bread. If you don't think that's gross, how about cold eggs, sausage and jelly? Or mom's left over meat-loaf and ketchup? Or have you ever heard of boiled ham and pickle relish?

Some of the combinations we discovered were even too gross to print. We don't know about you, but we prefer your basic bologna on white bread.

On The Job

Working ... A thing most juniors wished they were doing. A small amount of juniors presently hold part-time jobs in a variety of different areas. Many seem to be in the restaurant-fast food area.

A majority of working juniors were able to become employed through the construction of a new McDonald's and a new ShopKo. They are very fortunate to hold these part-time jobs because the job demand for students in the Fox Valley has diminished to almost nothing. We asked Rose Weber if she has to budget her time because she holds a part-time job at ShopKo and she replied, "Yes, I have to make time for everything."

The biggest reason for most juniors working is for extra money. They use this for many "extras" such as going out, paying for clothes, cars, etc. Some people also feel this gives them a sense of responsibility.

Girls In Pink

Have you ever had to spend time in the hospital when a smiling girl in pink pops in? They are candystripers, and Menasha has their fair share. Some of the senior stripers are Martha Drew, Val Riska, Robin Berrell, Kandi Bowers, and Eileen Mulvey.

The candystripers play games with children, bring meals up to patients, make beds, and talk to them when they wish company. Many candystripers enjoy working with the children most because they show the candystripers how to be brave even when things are down.

Concerts

Screams and whistling fill the air, the concert is on its way. The band is "jamming" on stage and the crowd is rocking and rolling.

REO, Triumph, Loverboy, Marshall Tucker, and the Cars are just a few bands that M.H.S. students saw this year.

All through the halls one can see concert T-shirts and hear students talk about how great the concerts were.

"It's terrific being able to see your favorite group in person," comments one concert goer.

A great number of students from M.H.S. go to the concerts. They find it an easy way to get away from it all and to be with friends.

YOU AND ME

Our days are long and happy,
Our nights are never-ending.
To show how much I love you,
This poem I am sending.

Whenever we're together,
We seem to have such fun.
Our love is really special,
Together we are one.

To me you're kind and gentle,
Tender to the touch.
You're fun to tease, nice to squeeze,

And I love you very much!

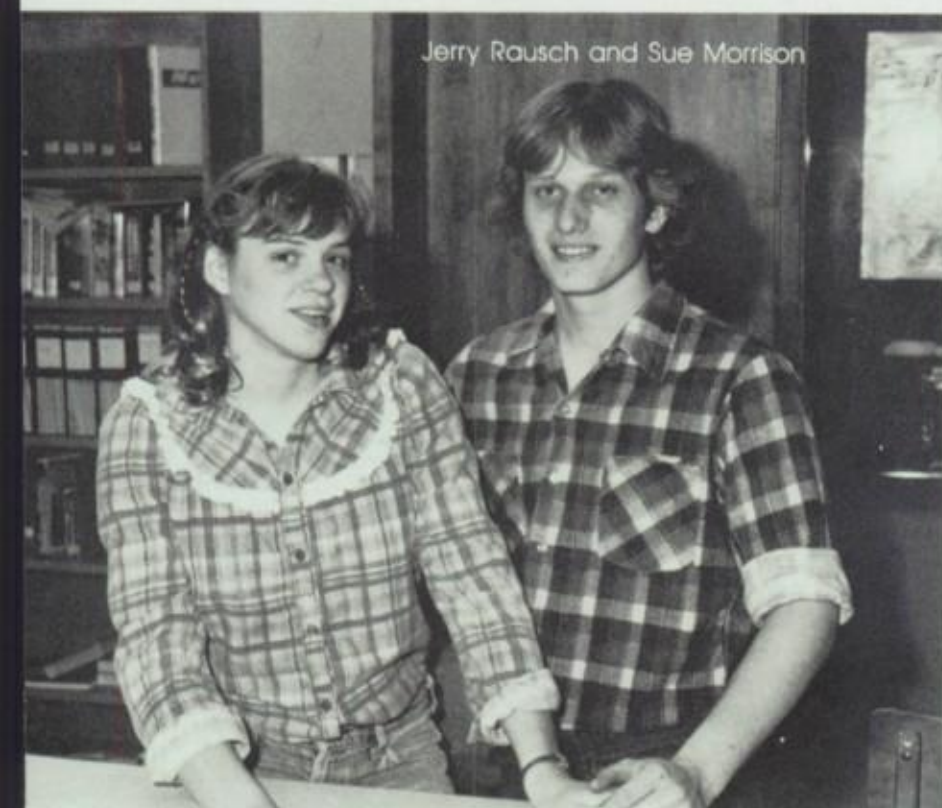

You're so very understanding,
Always treat me fair,
You prove to me, endlessly,
That you'll always care.

To say the very least,
You're everything to me.
I hope this never changes,
I'm as happy as can be!

Class Of '82 Leaves With A Diploma And A Prayer

Tears, hugs, laughs, but most of all — a prayer. These are the elements that played a significant role in the ceremony that took place in the fieldhouse on Friday, June 4, 1982. For it was here that the class of '82 gathered to receive their high school diplomas.

With the unemployment rate at well over 10%, many graduating seniors will find it difficult to get jobs now that they have become potential members of the labor force. However, these people have one advantage — an excellent education from Menasha High School. Their ambition is what makes them excel; their motivation and drive will be an inspiration to all underclassmen.

Among the top scholars in the class of '82 were Becky Kuepper, Jeff Thompson, and Steve Dahle. Becky and Jeff were this year's valedictorians, maintaining a cumulative grade point average of 4.0. Steve Dahle was the salutatorian, with a grade point average of 3.99. These three students ranked the highest out of approximately 325 graduating seniors.

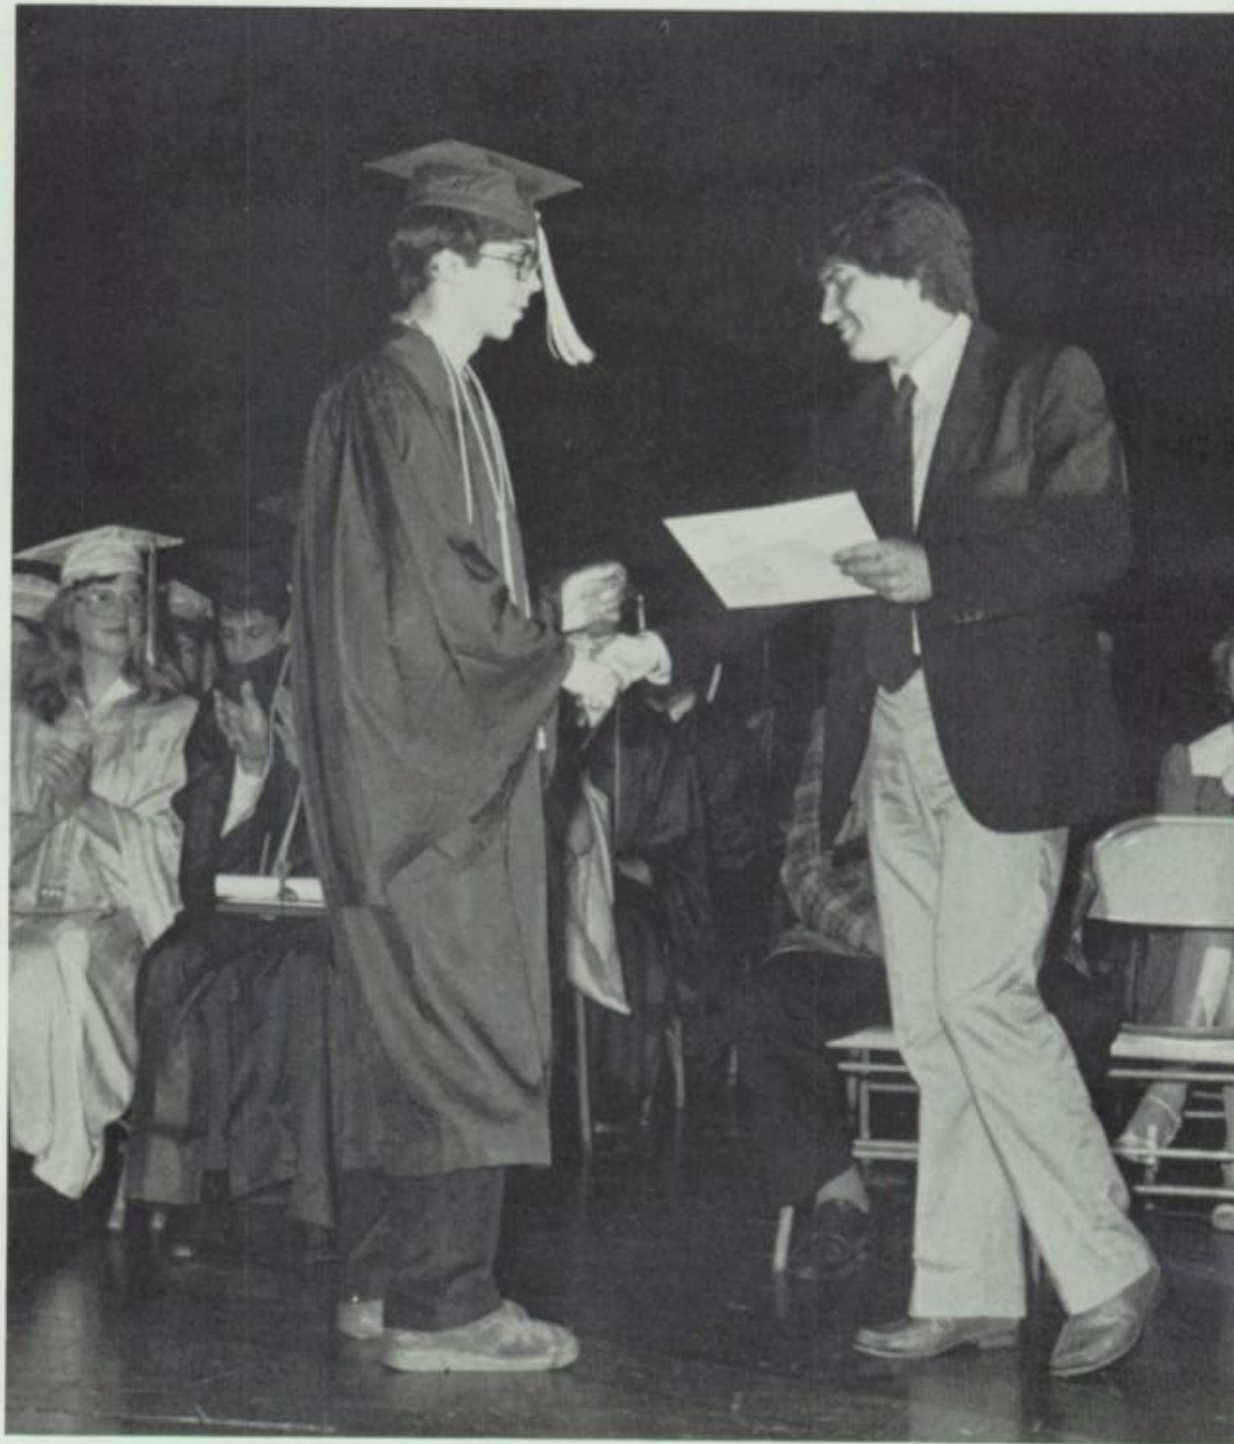

Farewell to the class of '82!

That happy graduate face belongs to Penny Ahrens.

"I hope I don't have to visit this place too often," ponders Kelly Schveler.

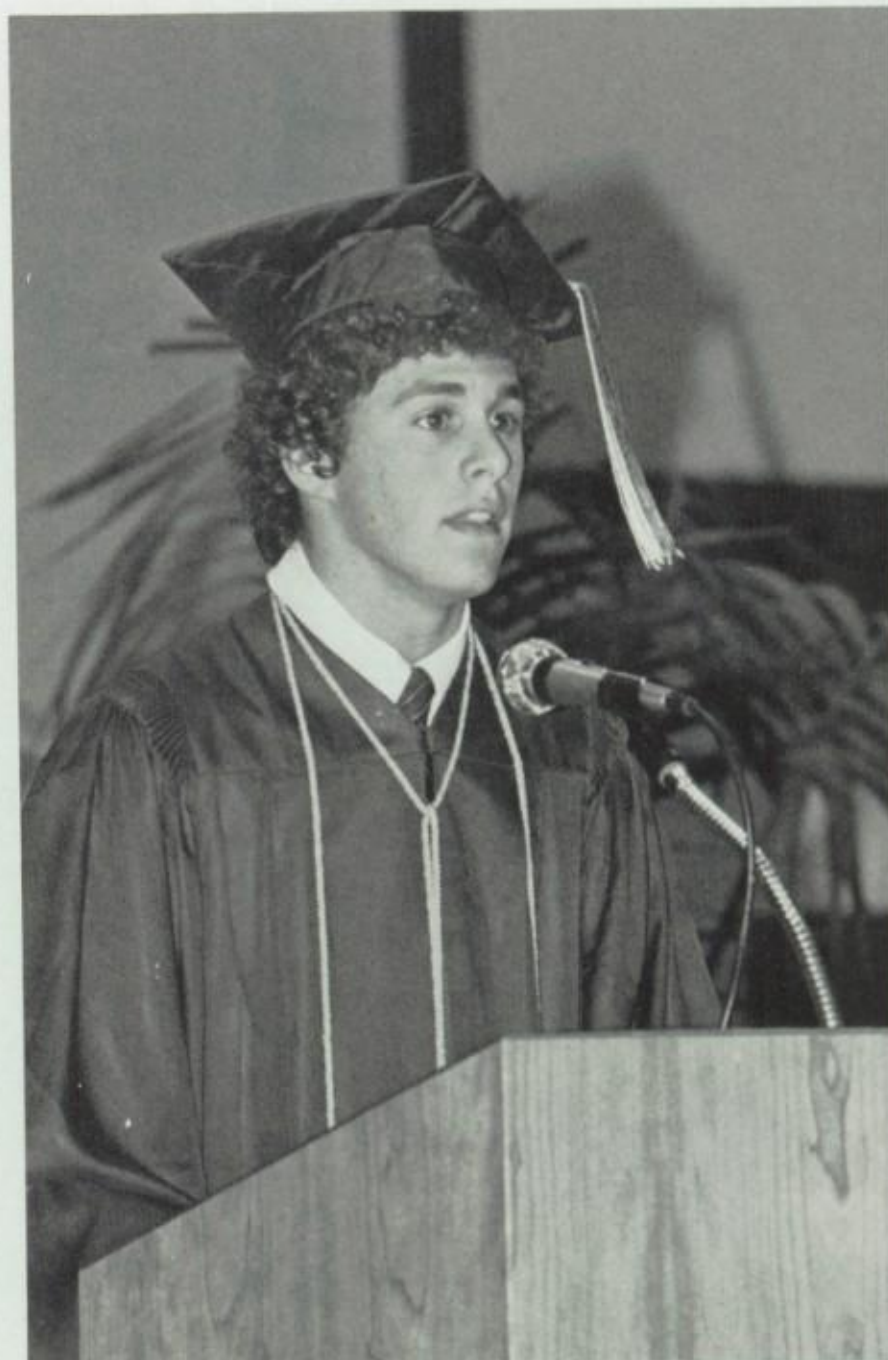

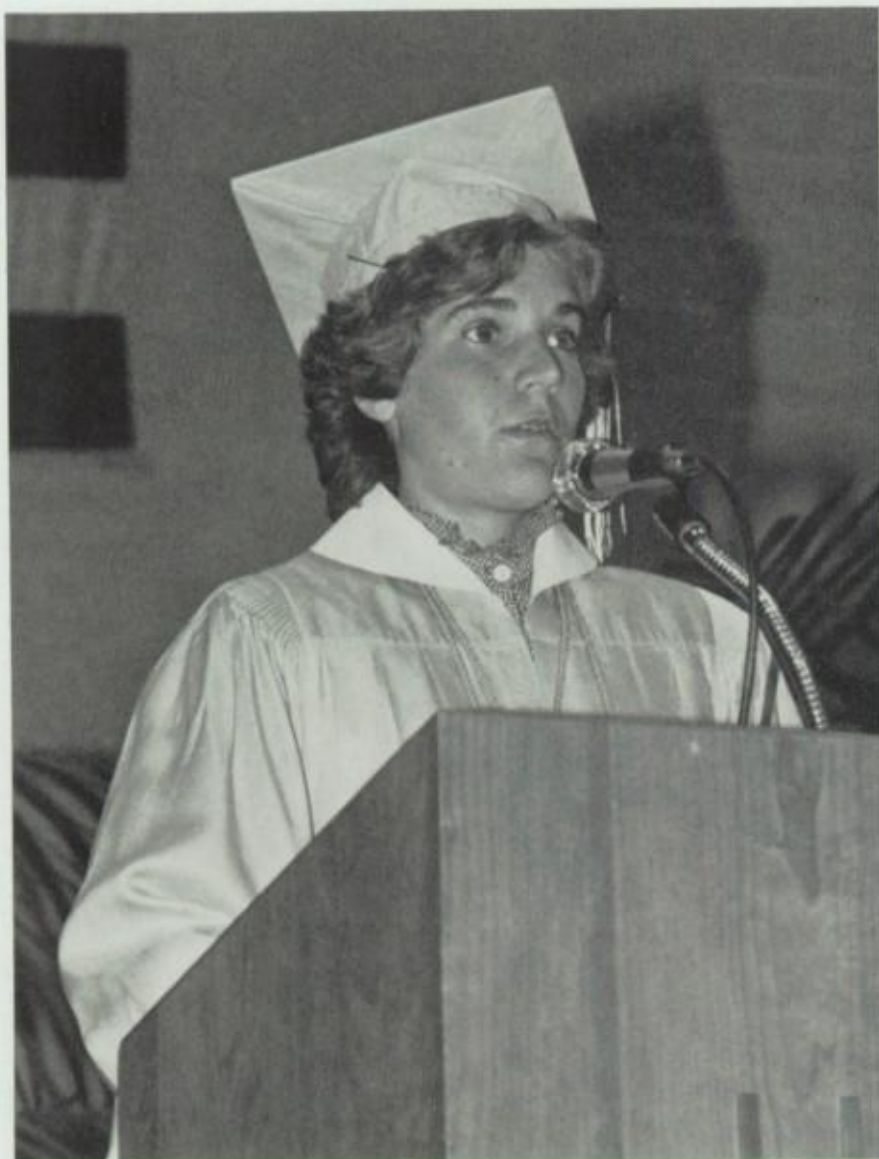

Jeff Kirk receives one of 48 scholarships granted at the senior honors program.

These senior girls join in with the choir to sing their last song.

Barb VanLieshout and Bill Hammett offer good wishes to their fellow seniors at the 107th annual commencement.

"I don't suppose these are the keys to a 1982 Trans Am," giggles Gwen Wittman as she opens a graduation gift.
"Kawasaki lets the good times roll."

Could this be a new superstition — biting a tassel for good luck?

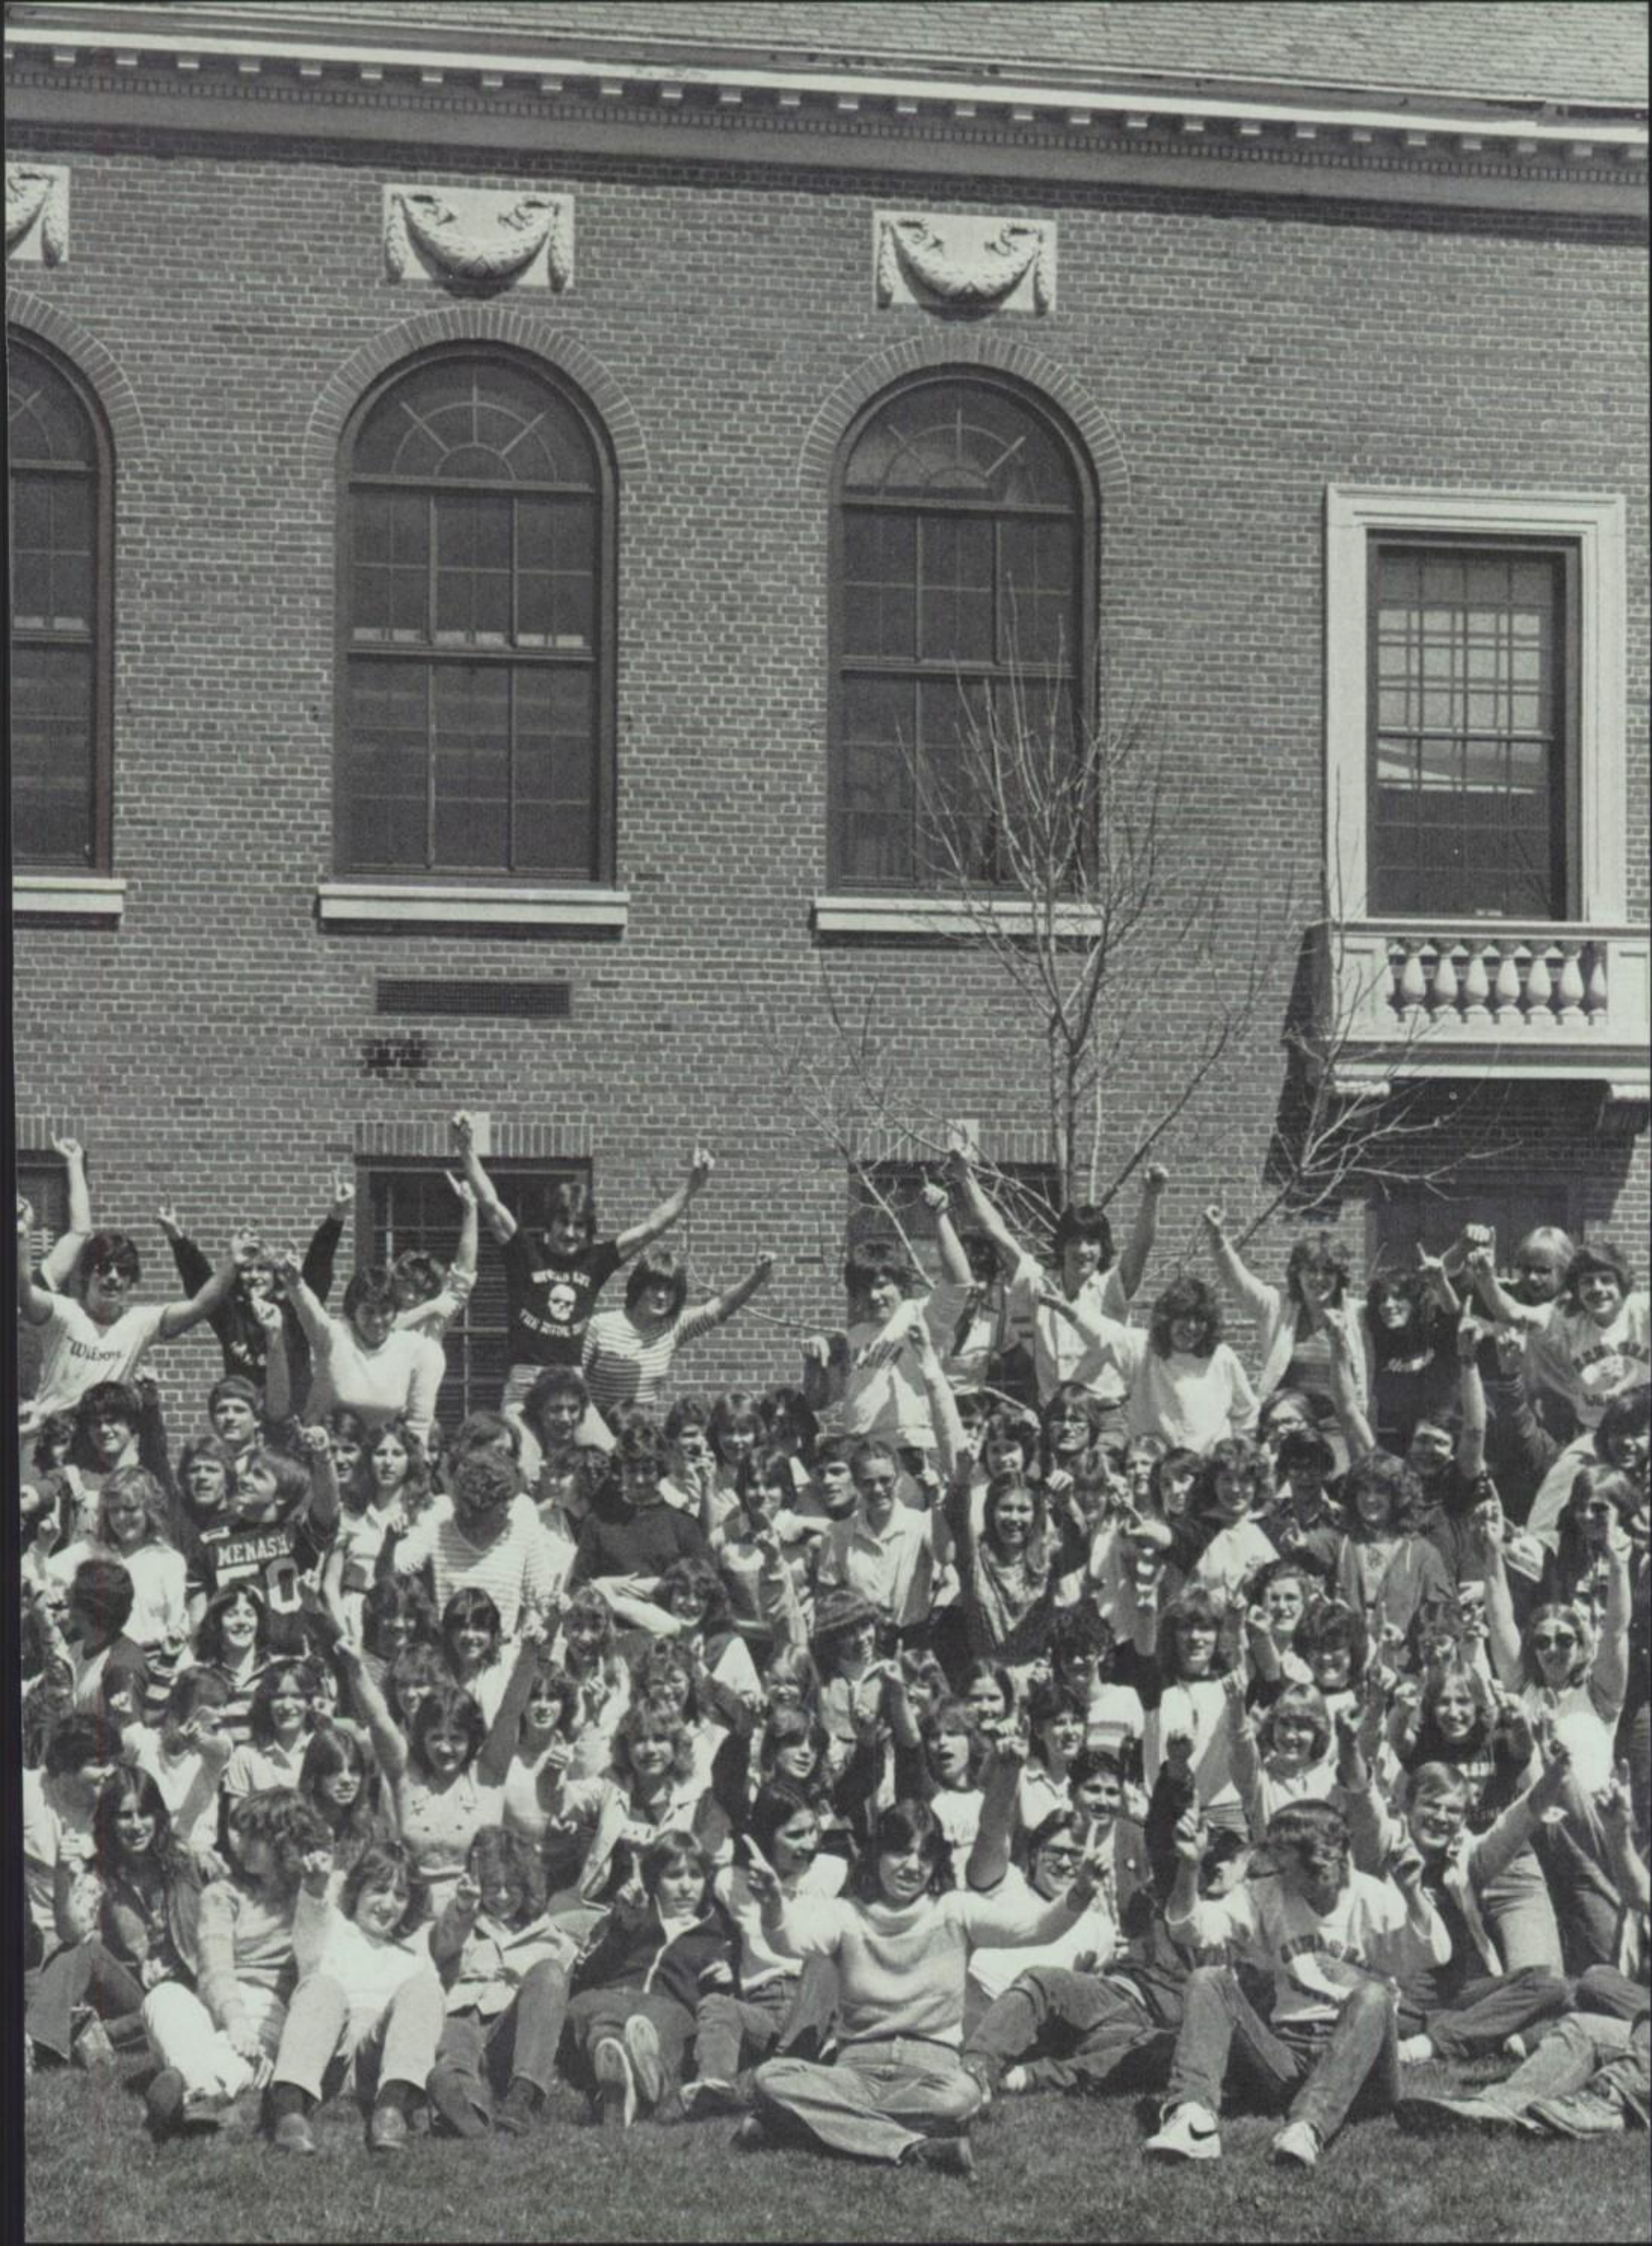

"I don't suppose these are the keys to a 1982 Trans Am," giggles Gwen Wittman as she opens a graduation gift.

Rob Bisby speculates over the years that lie ahead.

Bottom: While at a Spanish Christmas party, Mrs. Briones, husband Pedro, and daughter Eliana, seem to be enjoying the entertainment.

Top: Mrs. Kropidlowski helps a student as she checks out a book from the school library.

Bottom: Answering phones is just one of the many jobs Mrs. Kluba has in the T.V. studios.

If Mrs. Franke doesn't stop smiling and get to work, she may never see her desk again!

"Did you forget what you were going to drill, Bill?"

Mr. Rudolph is caught off-guard as he sneaks a love letter back into its envelope.

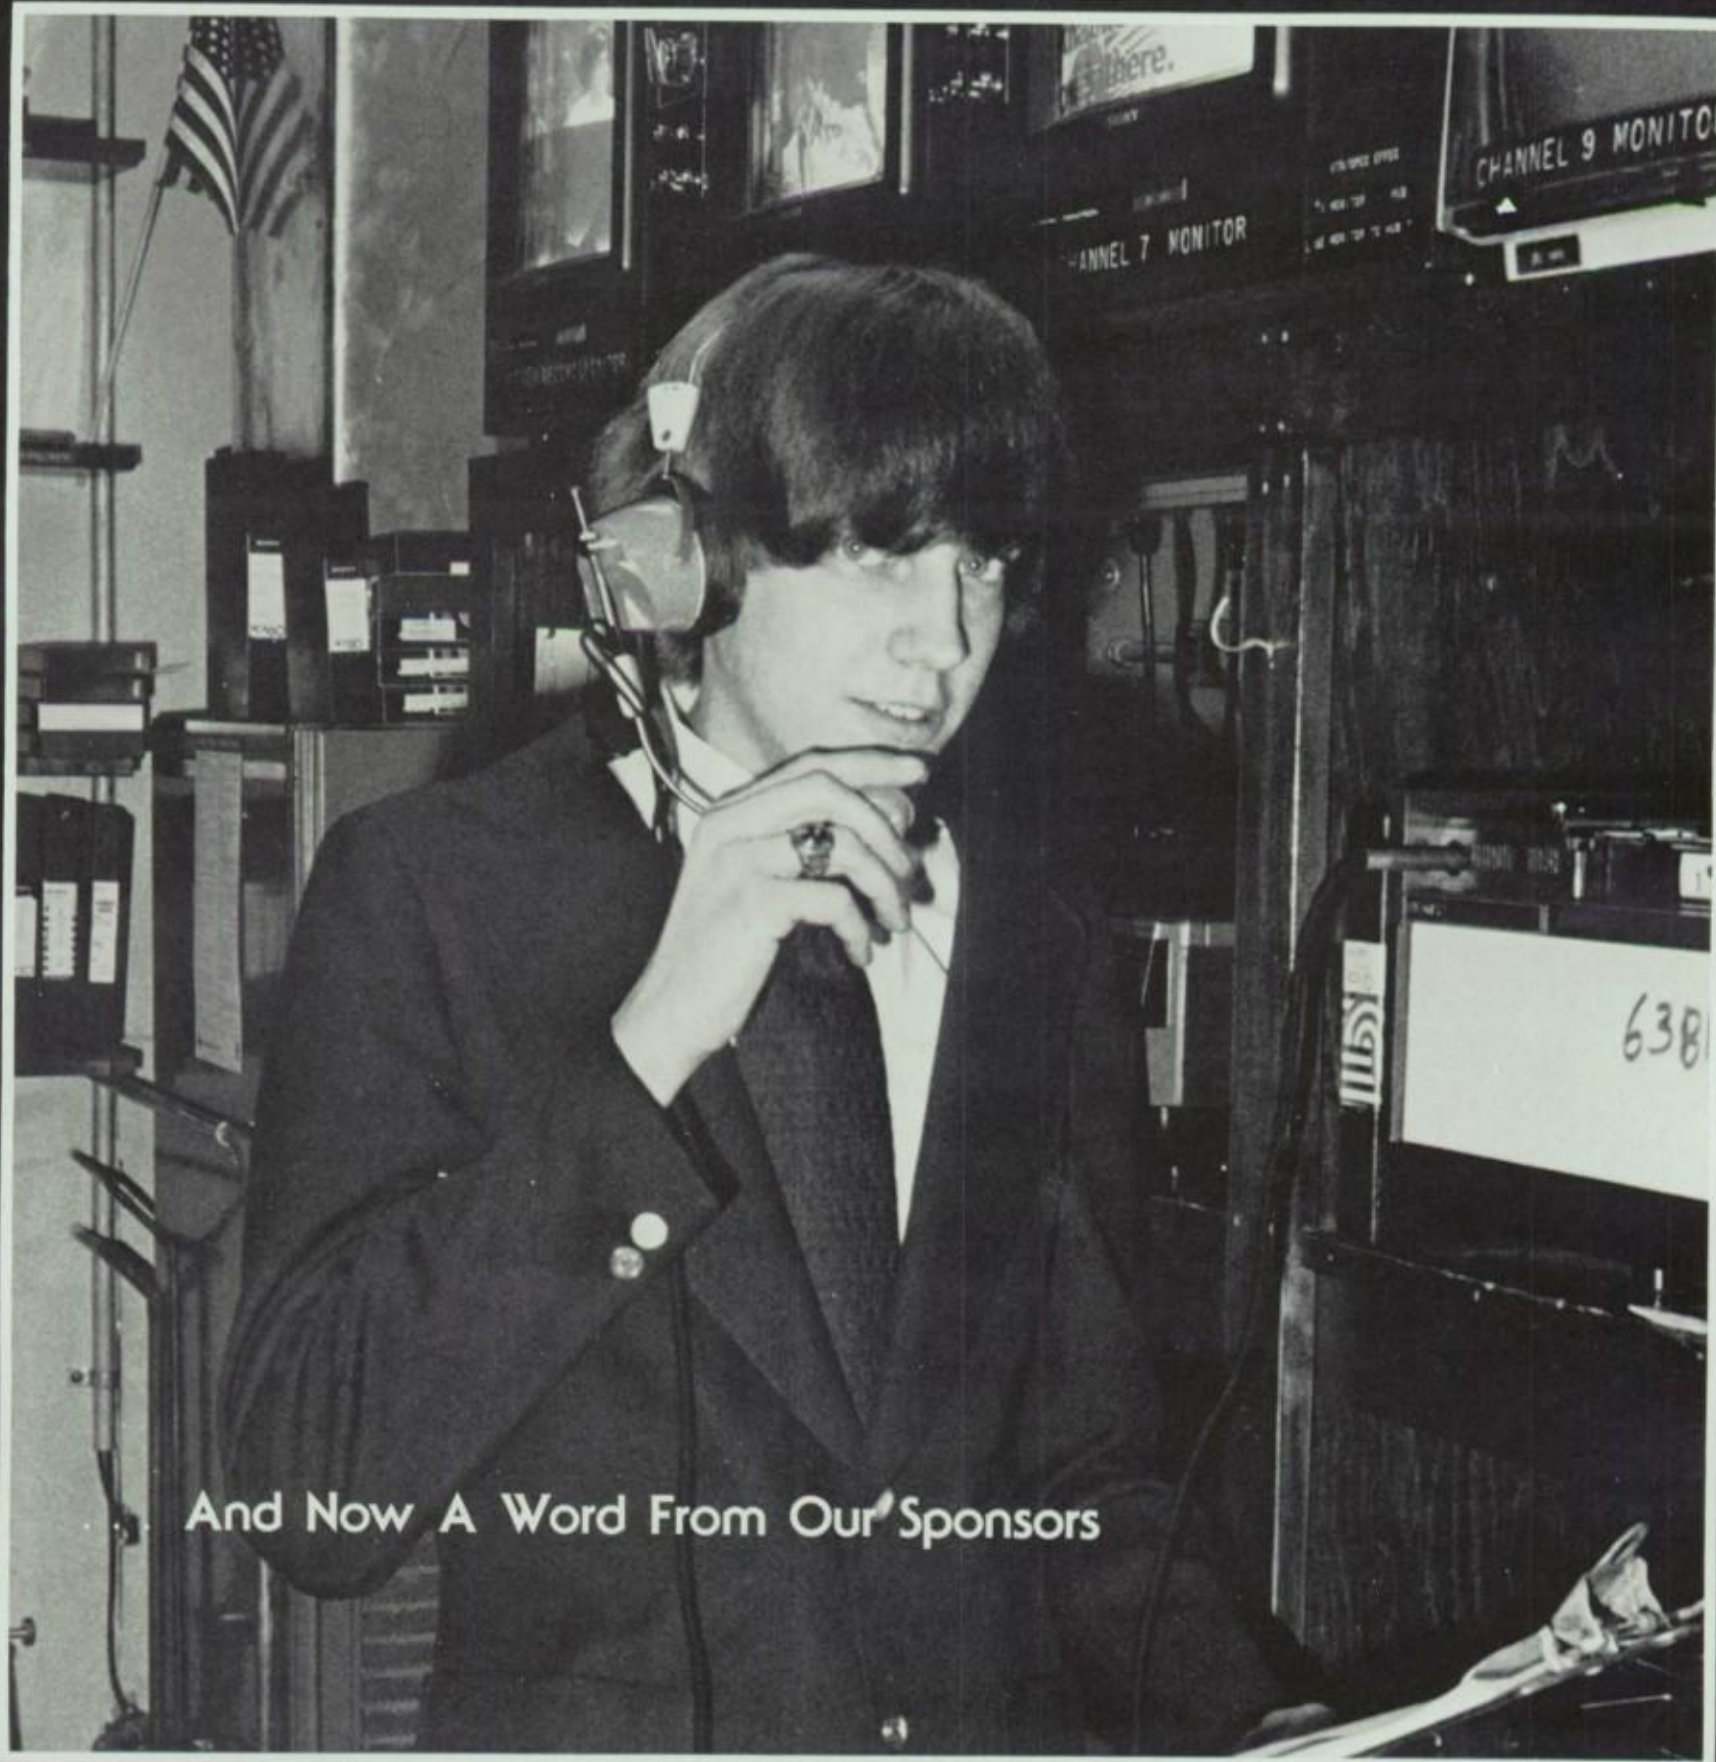

Administration members: Clayton Jackson, Bill Herziger, John Stofflet.

American Can.

We're proud to be part of your home.

We're proud to be part of your community.

When you think of American Can, you probably think of products for your home: cans, containers and other packages containing your favorite brands. Or perhaps you think of one of our Consumer Products brands — Dixie® cups and plates; Northern®, Aurora®, Brawny® or Gala® towels, tissues and napkins; or Butterick® and Vogue® sewing patterns.

You may not realize that American Can is a major international company with subsidiaries and affiliates around the world. Or that we are leaders in the growing field of resource recovery. You may be surprised to learn, too, that through our Pickwick International subsidiary, we are involved in the sale or distribution of one of every five records and tapes sold in the U.S. And that Fingerhut Corporation, whose products are mailed directly to consumer homes, is also part of American Can.

To carry out these activities, we rely on more than 50,000 employees living and working throughout the country and overseas — and of course, right here in the area. People who not only do a fine job for American Can but often dedicate after-hours time to their communities. They lead Scout meetings, collect for fund drives, carry out the work of religious groups and do the many other unpaid jobs that help bind our community together. As good corporate citizens, we're proud of their energy and commitment and proud to work alongside them at American Can.
